THE RIGHT-OF-WAY— THAT IS THE PLACE GIVEN LEGISLATION FOR JUSTICE TO COUNTRY SCHOOL TEACHERS AND TAX REFORM BY LEADERS OF BOTH THE HOUSE AND THE SENATE

SUSPENDED OFFICER SAYS HE WILL BARE CORRUPTION IN POLICE DEPARTMENT

Startling Conditions Alleged By Robert A. Wood, Who Resigns After Being Relieved From Duty in Company With Three Other Policemen on Charges of Drinking While on Duty.

BEAVERS WILL BREAK EVERY MAN ON FORCE GUILTY OF MISCONDUCT

Chief Intimates He Will Instigate a Complete Probe of Every Report of Policemen Visiting Disorderly Resorts, Drinking There and Giving Protection to Such Places.

Following a sensational investigation by Chief Beavers, which resulted in the indefinite suspension of Policeman Robert A. Wood and three other officers, Wood submitted his resignation yesterday afternoon with the startling announcement that he would proceed immediately to expose corrupt conditions in the police department.

The ex-policeman left headquarters as soon as his resignation had been read, declaring that he was aware of unproper conditions that had existed for years in the police system, and he would lend vigorous efforts to reveal all such conditions of his knowledge.

He said that all ranks of the department would be affected, and that when his revelations were made they would shock the entire city into instant action. He has already begun, he says, securing affidavits substantiating the evidence he intends to produce.

"Will Affect Vice Squad."

The famous police "vice squad" of plain clothes men, Wood intimates, will be as sorely affected by his exposure as any other department of headquarters. Even the detective department, he hints, will not be exempt. He has been connected with the police for fifteen years or more.

At the time of his resignation he was attached to the motorcycle squad. Several years ago Wood was suspended as the result of a sensational trial held by the police commission over a fight in which he had figured with a prisoner whom he was carrying to police station.

He avers that he will be supported in his alleged exposure by a number of prominent business men with whom he has conferred.

Chief Beavers intimated to reporters Friday afternoon that wholesale suspensions would follow the investigation being promoted by his office and by Recorder Nash Broyles into the reported association of policemen with a disorderly resort in the rear of 127 Auburn avenue.

The keepers of this dive, two negro women, were given severe sentences in police court Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and were also bound over to higher courts on charges of running a disorderly house and violating the liquor ordinance. Both went to the stockad at nightfall.

Evidence was produced at the trial accusing Policemen Wood, T. H. Bailey and R. T. David, all patrolmen, of figuring in midnight orgies in this resort. Two plain clothes policemen, J. H. Adams and W. T. Moon, of the "vice squad," who had spied on the place, testified that they had seen the

200 TONS OF OIL EXPLODE ON SHIP

Five Killed and Six Injured When Tank Steamer Blows Up With Terrific Roar in New York Bay.

New York, June 27.—Two hundred tons of fuel oil on board the steel tank steamer Mohawk, owned by the Standard Oil company, exploded with a terrific roar and a burst of flame this afternoon while the vessel was at anchor off Tompkinsville, Staten island, in New York bay, killing five persons and injuring six others. A dozen more are unaccounted for, but are believed to have been rescued. Two bodies were seen floating in the hold while the fire boats were still pouring streams of water into the wrecked steamer late tonight. The other three victims probably were blown to pieces. The dead:

EDWARD DONAHUE, 35, steam fitter, helper, Brooklyn.

JOHN DONOVAN, 26, a machinst helper, Brooklyn.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED SAILORS, members of the Mohawk's crew.

FOURTH ENGINEER OF THE MOHAWK, a foreigner, name not obtainable.

Gustave Elmgren, 40, a pipe fitter, was probably fatally burned, while Philip Lepic, 32, sailor, and Herman Weissman, 31, sailor, received serious injuries.

Percy Payne, a machinist, and Third Engineer Vandegrind, of the Mohawk, were slightly burned.

Carelessness of a machinist's helper was reported to have caused the explosion. Fifty men, including the crew and twenty machinists, who were making repairs preparatory to the Mohawk's departure for Tuxpan, Mexico, tomorrow morning, were on board. A helper was declared to have dropped a washer into the hold below the fire room. Seeking to recover it, he is believed to have carried a lighted candle, which caused combustion among gases generated in the hold.

The explosion was heard for many miles. A 200-foot flash of flame, a column of smoke, the detonation, a volcano of debris and the Mohawk settled aft while fire boats, wrecking tugs and other harbor craft hurried to the scene from all directions.

A score of men who were blown overboard were rescued unhurt. Others clung to stanchions and rails or huddled in the bow, whence they were dragged to safety on boats.

Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight the fire was under control and the crew returned on board and began pumping the vessel out. The stern was completely under water, but it is believed the steamer can be got into dry dock for repairs.

Americus Chief Dies.

Americus, Ga., June 27.—Chief of Police Barrow, of Americus, who was shot by the negro, James Redding, Saturday night, the latter being later lynched for the killing, died at 12 o'clock tonight of his wounds.

SPOOL THREAD PLACED UPON THE FREE LIST

Caucus Ratifies Other Rates of Cotton Schedule as Amended by Finance Committee.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 27.—(Special.)—The cotton schedule of the Underwood tariff bill, as amended by the democrats of the finance committee, was ratified by the democratic caucus tonight. Spool thread was put on the free list, although Senator Hughes, of New Jersey, tried to raise duties on this cotton product. That was the only substantial change, and even the action may be reconsidered tomorrow, as it was taken by a majority of one.

The rate on yarns was left untouched. In the senate bill 2 1-2 points are added on yarns to cover advances in manufacture by combing, dyeing, bleaching and mercerizing.

"Georgia leads the country in the productions of yarns below twenties," said Senator Hoke Smith tonight in discussing the action.

The house schedule began with a duty of 5 per cent on yarns numbered from 1 to 9, inclusive, and reached a duty of 25 per cent on yarns numbered over 100. When dealing with cotton cloth it still recognized the number of the cotton yarns used in the cloth and made the duty on gray cloth containing yarns the highest number of which does not exceed No. 9, 7 1-2 per cent and the cloth exceeding No. 99 27 1-2 per cent. Cotton cloth, when bleached, dyed, colored, painted, stained, printed, woven, figured or mercerized had placed upon it a duty of 2 1-2 per cent. The senate finance committee followed the house in this manner, but also treated cotton yarns as the house bill treated cotton cloth by adding a duty of 2 1-2 per cent upon cotton yarn when combed, bleached, dyed, mercerized or colored. This is the most important change made in the cotton schedule.

KEEFER ARRESTED FOLLOWING FIGHT WITH HIS STEPSON

Prominent Broker Comes to Police Station and Gives Bond For Appearance in Court This Afternoon.

POLICE ACTION TAKEN AT REQUEST OF WIFE

Trouble Begins When Keefer and Deputy Sheriff Go to Driving Club to Take Possession of Automobile.

The stormy matrimonial career of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Keefer, which has furnished court and newspaper sensation from New York to Georgia, will be given another airing in police court this afternoon when the husband will be arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The docketing of charges against the prominent broker was the culmination of a difficulty early last night which occurred at the Piedmont Driving club, where Keefer went with a deputy sheriff to serve a bail trover on his stepson, Jack Macy, to gain possession of a $5,000 Lozier automobile.

As Keefer pointed out the youth as the man on whom the deputy should serve the trover, young Macy arose from the group of friends whom he was entertaining at the club and escorted his step-father outside. A wrathy scene ensued. Eye-witnesses say abusive language was used by both men.

Deputy Sheriff Interferes.

The youth struck the broker in the face and kicked him several times, it is said. What promised to be an interesting battle was prevented by the deputy sheriff, Plennie Miner, who separated the two. The affair ended with Miner taking possession of the car in which young Macy had driven to the club.

In the meantime Mrs. Keefer, who lives at 80 East Fourteenth street, only a short distance from the Driving club, was informed of the difficulty. She hurried to the scene and encountered her husband. Keefer stated to a reporter for The Constitution last night that she attempted to strike him and that he grabbed her wrists to prevent the blow and hold her away.

Deputy Miner again interfered. Someone in the vicinity of the Driving club telephoned police headquarters.

Demands Husband's Arrest.

Mrs. Keefer also called the police, declaring Keefer had struck her and her son. She demanded that he be arrested. Plainclothes men were sent to look for him at his residence and at his office in the Atlanta National bank building. Upon learning that he was wanted, Keefer telephoned Chief Lett that he would come to headquarters and surrender.

Ten minutes later he appeared in a taxicab and, after conferring with the chief, gave bond of $200 for appearance in court this afternoon. He declared that the charge against him was ridiculous, and was only an effort to get revenge for the bail trover which he had instituted against his stepson.

Mr. and Mrs. Keefer have been separated for eight months or more. She has been in Atlanta for several weeks, coming here from Connecticut, where she had been living. She is a native of New York, and she and Keefer once resided in Porchester, N. Y.

The bail trover was issued for the handsome Lozier machine which was sent from Porchester, Mr. Keefer alleges, by his stepson, who registered it in Georgia under his own name. The stepfather declares that the machine is his and that the youth has no legal claim to it whatever.

Stormy Matrimonial Career.

The Keefers were married in 1906. In 1911, the first divorce proceedings were instituted by the wife. The newspapers published that her contention was her husband was too fond of the gay White Way. Keefer denied this to a reporter for The Constitution last night. The divorce, he says, was dismissed. A separation ensued, shortly after which came reconciliation. There were frequent estrangements, he says, invariably followed by reconciliation.

Young Marcy is only 17 years old. His sister, Miss Elinor Marcy, is a debutante. His stepfather avers that he has been partly responsible for many of the marital difficulties suffered by he and his wife. He also states that as he drove off with Deputy Miner in the car last night, the youth shied a dry battery at the departing machine, it coming dangerously near the broker's head.

The auto was placed in Johnson's garage, where it was ordered held by the deputy sheriff until the dispute over its ownership is settled.

The trial will be held in recorder's court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BIRMINGHAM SHUTS LID ON RESTRICTED DISTRICT

Birmingham, Ala., June 27.—Birmingham's restricted district is doomed to go by October 1, according to action taken by the city commission today. There was nothing theatrical about the fight. A property owner two weeks ago complained he could not dispose of his holdings because of proximity to this community. Counsel for both sides appeared, a number of citizens interested themselves and President Exum announced quietly in open session today that after October 1 the law against such places will be rigidly enforced.

M'MICHAEL BILL TO PAY TEACHERS

Would Increase Tax Rate One Mill for Two Years Until the State Has a Chance to Catch Up.

There is no doubt that the legislature is at last awake to the importance of paying the school teachers. The subject formed the chief topic of conversation among members of the house and senate yesterday, and there is every indication that the question will receive serious consideration as soon as the proper measures can be got before the house.

A bill was introduced Friday by Representative McMichael, of Marion, to amend the constitution so as to increase the tax rate one mill a year for two years, the money raised by the additional levy to be applied to the payment of school teachers. It was referred to the committee on constitutional amendment. The bill is as follows:

Copy of Bill.

"An act to be entitled an act to amend Article 7, Section 1, of the Constitution of this State as printed in the Code of 1911, by adding a new paragraph to be numbered Paragraph 3, which shall provide for a special levy of 1 mill tax upon all the property of the state for a period of two years only, which levy shall be for the specific purpose of raising money with which to pay the salaries of common school teachers promptly, and for other purposes.

"Section 1—Be it enacted by the general assembly of Georgia and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same that the following amendment to the constitution of this state shall be proposed to the people at the next general election for ratification:

IOWA STATE BAR BACKS STAND OF JUDGE SPEER

Espionage of Federal Judges by Other Government Departments Called Un-American.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 27.—Concurrence with the declaration of Emory Speer, of Macon, Ga., federal judge of the southern Georgia district, that the espionage of judges and their courts by the department of justice was un-American and should be abolished, made in his address yesterday to the convention, was expressed by resolutions at the meeting of the Iowa State Bar association today.

The conclusion of the resolution follows:

"The absolute independence of the judiciary of this country, state and federal, is necessary to the maintenance of the rights and liberties of the people of this nation.

"The espionage of judges of the federal courts by other departments of the government is un-American and highly detrimental to the proper administration of justice. Such practice tends to impair the confidence in the integrity of the courts to which they are justly entitled, the respect in which they are held by the people and should receive the stamp of unqualified condemnation by the bar of this country."

WOODWARD URGED TO SIGN CONTRACT

Health Board Alarmed Over Threats of Injunction Suits to Stop City From Dumping Garbage.

The city health board, alarmed over threats of injunction suits to stop the city from dumping garbage near the limits of the city, met in special session yesterday afternoon and adopted a resolution urging Mayor James G. Woodward to sign the contract and place the city in immediate possession of the $250,000 crematory.

Dr. W. L. Gilbert, ex-president of the board of health, now chairman of the crematory committee, and G. H. Brandon offered the resolution. Dr. Gilbert declared that the lives and health of the people were being put in jeopardy by the wrangle between Mayor Woodward and the council. He put the burden of responsibility for the crematory delay squarely up to the mayor.

Without a dissenting vote the resolution was adopted and will be sent to Mayor Woodward Saturday morning.

Mayor Woodward's Answer.

"I expected that Dr. Gilbert's conscience would soon pinch him," Mayor Woodward said when informed of the action of the board. "If the city has no place to burn garbage, it is more his fault than anyone else. I begged, cautioned and fought with the board of health against tearing down the old crematory. Councilman Ashley was the only member of the board who agreed with me. Did Dr. Gilbert think then, when he succeeded in having the old plant demolished? I am reliably informed that the new plant will not be ready to burn garbage for at least ten or fifteen days yet."

Mayor Woodward was sharply criti-

SIMPLE CEREMONY WILL MARK CHANGE IN GOVERNORSHIP

Governor Brown Will Hand Over to His Successor the Great Seal of Georgia at the State Capitol.

DINNER AT EXECUTIVE MANSION WILL FOLLOW

Then Former Head of the Cracker State Retires to Marietta, Leaving New Occupant in Charge.

In the presence of both branches of the general assembly gathered in the chamber of the house of representatives and with the simplest possible ceremonies the reins of state will be turned over at noon today by the retiring governor, Joseph M. Brown, to his successor in office, John M. Slaton. There will be no military display nor red tape of any sort.

While there will be a good quota of state political celebrities in Atlanta to witness the change in administration, there will be little of the nervous excitement which has characterized the inauguration of governors in the past.

Governor-elect Slaton has expressed his desire for the simplest kind of inaugural ceremony and the legislative committee on arrangements has conformed to his wishes in the matter entirely.

Will Mark No Revolution.

The change in administration will not mark any revolution in the policy of the state. Governor Brown will relinquish his office and retire to his Cobb county farm, and Governor Slaton will take his place at the capitol and in the mansion. Things will go on smoothly, as before.

Of course, this does not mean that Governor Slaton will not enunciate distinct policies of his own, which will be listened to with keen interest by members of the legislature when he reads his inaugural address, but there will be none of the tense feeling visible that comes with a change of administration following a closely-fought political contest, when the victors cannot refrain from exhibiting their joy nor can the losers conceal their chagrin.

There will be nothing of that sort in the air today. The new governor will be warmly greeted as the chief executive of the whole people. As has already been published in The Constitution, his inaugural address will contain his message to the legislature, and it will be with open minds and with an eye solely to the good of the state that his recommendations will be received by those who hear them.

Oath Will Be Administered.

Chief Justice Fish will administer the oath of office, when the two governors have been escorted into the representatives' chamber by the joint committee on arrangements.

All will then be in readiness for their arrival. Both branches of the general assembly will be in their seats in the hall at 11:45 o'clock. The guests of honor, which include statehouse officials, judges of the supreme court and court of appeals, ex-governors and federal judges, will meet in the executive office and march to the representatives' chamber with the incoming

DR. PERCY J. STARNES LEAVES CITY AUGUST 1

City Organist Announces Termination of His Engagement in Atlanta.

Dr. Percy J. Starnes, for the past three years city organist of Atlanta, announced last night that he would terminate his engagement here on August 1, as the Atlanta Music Festival association had informed him that they were without funds, and did not wish to appeal to the public for subscriptions.

Dr. Starnes expressed his appreciation for his kindly treatment while in Atlanta, and said that he would leave with the sincerest wishes for its future prosperity musically and otherwise.

After a vocation Dr. Starnes will go on an extended concert tour which will embrace Canada and the principal eastern cities in the fall and the west in the coming spring.

Since being in Atlanta Dr. Starnes has won a host of friends not only because of his genius as a musician, but because of his magnetic personality.

One of the most delightful features of his engagement has been the series of Sunday afternoon concerts which he has given from time to time.

SHAM BATTLE FOUGHT AND WON AT ST. SIMONS

By Ogie Grice.

Camp Brown, St. Simons Island, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Another sham battle occurred near Camp Brown on Friday morning. Captain O. L. Rudisail, of the Governor's Horse Guard, had command of the successful force. Lieutenant Homer C. Ashford, of the Governor's Horse Guard, commanded a company under Captain Rudisail, and was also in charge of the outposts and with one private captured two of the enemy's patrols, one captain, one first lieutenant and seven men.

The problem was advance guard work for Rudisail's force and rear guard work for the other. Until Friday the sham battles had resulted in draws, but Captain Rudisail was easily victorious in this engagement.

15,000 COAL MINERS ORDERED TO STRIKE

Charleston, W. Va., June 27.—Negotiations looking to a settlement of the proposed strike in the New River coal field July 1, where 15,000 miners are employed, were called off tonight and the call for a general strike was issued and mailed throughout the field by the officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

Conferences have been under way to prevent the strike for the last three days. The miners' officials and coal operators, with Governor Hatfield, as mediator, however, failed to reach a solution of the trouble. Attempts will is said, will be made tomorrow to renew negotiations.

Conditions on Cabin Creek, where about 1,000 miners are again striking, were quiet tonight. Preparations are being perfected for holding a mass meeting of miners at Eskdale Sunday.

VENABLE IS RUSHED TO ATLANTA IN AUTO

Although Shot Three Times, Injuries of Young Man Are Not Serious.

In a fight that occurred in Stone Mountain, Walter Venable, assistant manager of the Venable Stone Works, and a graduate of the New York School of Technology, was shot three times in the abdomen yesterday afternoon by Bill Collum, an engineer formerly in the stone plant company.

The injured man was put in his father's machine and rushed at top speed to Grady hospital, where an operation was performed and the balls removed. The trop was made in record-breaking time, and would have been made even quicker had not the fleeing automobile been stopped on Ponce de Leon avenue by two traffic policemen.

Collum was arrested and is held in jail at Stone Mountain. Accounts differ, but the fight is said to have resulted from an insult passed by the latter's daughter. Venable went down twice by the assistant manager, and, upon rising the third time, began firing.

A. E. Venable, owner and general manager of the Venable works, and father of the wounded youth, told a Constitution reporter at the hospital last night that he did not know the details of the trouble between his son and Collum. He stated that the latter had encountered the youth in front of a drug store, and had insulted him. Mr. Venable said his son's wounds were not serious.

cised by the health board. In addition to his action of Mayor Woodward, Dr. Gilbert informed the board that he had a conference with a representative of the contractor company, and was informed that the corporation was not more anxious to get the $125,000 first payment than to get a legal contract.

Conditions Are Intolerable.

"I don't think the board should be held responsible while the contract is being shoved like a football between Mayor Woodward and council," he said. "The plant is ready. Conditions about the city are almost intolerable. Flies are breeding in the dump piles, and I am told that a lot of putrid fish was dumped outside the city recently. It is up to the board to take action."

Attorney Thomas Goodwin, representing citizens living near the Milton avenue dump pile, appeared before the board and threatened an injunction unless he was assured of relief.

The city will be confronted with $250,000 worth of damage suits unless something is done," he said. "I have been asked to draw a bill of injunction against the city, but I am willing to defer action if the mayor and council will get together."

He suggested that the board urge Mayor Woodward to draw up a contract, call a special meeting of council, offer it and let the contract pass.

Councilman Claude A. Ashley, chairman of the sanitary committee of the council, declared that he had no quarrel with Mayor Woodward, and denied that he "rapped" him.

Give People Relief.

"I tell you flies are pretty fierce around the city," he said, prior to the meeting of the board. "I have been around and have seen with my own eyes. Out on Vedado way I was shown a house where the flies were so thick that it was impossible to tell whether the ceiling was white or black. I say stop politics and give the people relief. If the mayor can draw a contract let's help him. I'll be willing to vote for a contract drawn by any reputable lawyer."

Instead of clarifying, the crematory situation appeared more clouded late Friday afternoon. Mayor Woodward declared that he has no idea of touching the contract with the aldermanic board sends it to him.

George C. Spence, of Evins, Moore & Spence, attorneys for the Destructor company, announced that the company would make no further attempt to get a contract from Mayor Woodward.

"We have written him the council and have his veto overridden he will have only one weapon to use against us—refusal to sign the warrants." Attorney Spence declared. "Then we are going to the courts and force him to pay through mandamus proceedings."

City Lawyers Capable.

Discussion of Mayor Woodward's proposal to allow six reputable lawyers make up a contract which he says he will sign. Attorney Sam N. Evins declared that he and his partner are not willing to admit that the two city attorneys are not capable of drawing up a contract.

Assistant City Attorney W. D. Ellis, Jr., who drew a contract for Mayor Woodward at the instance of Alderman Harwell and Councilman Colcord, says that he has never been informed of the mayor's objections to his instrument.

He will confer with the city attorney for reference or allusion to the 1912 contract and made several changes in order to meet objections of the mayor.

Captain Ellis explained that he was perfectly willing to confer with the mayor and draw up another contract if he desired.

Mayor Woodward, when asked to specifically state his objections to the contract, said that the only feature that must be specifically incorporated in the contract that he will sign. He explains this by stating that a contract was declared illegal. Therefore, the bond provided for in that contract was also illegal, and he does not want to put in an entirely new form and an entirely new contract. He says that he will insist upon the bond specifically stated in the new contract just what payments are to be made and under what conditions the crematory is to be turned over to the city. He says that he has no disposition to interfere with the agreement entered into between the Destructor company and council.

Wants Legal Contract.

Mayor Woodward still maintains that the council has not signed him officially. He states that he does not consider the resolution approved by council as a contract, because it does not safeguard the city against the injunction.

"I simply demand compliance with the law," he says. "I ask that the city be given the same bond under a new contract that it has under the old contract. I do not propose to have the city spend more than a quarter of a million dollars without a guarantee that it will be protected by adequate bond."

He says that he does not care what lawyer draws the contract, to be acceptable to him, but he insists that it be clear-cut and protective to the city.

Attorneys Evins and Spence assert that the contract the mayor has been asked to sign contains absolutely no reference to the contractor's bond, and provides that the Destructor company give the city a bond of $260,000, signed by the American Surety company. They say that they are the only suggestions that the mayor has made in opposition to the contract.

"We have done everything that honorable men could do, seeking to carry the contract into effect," Evins & Spence declared. "We feel that the city's moral obligation was as good as its bond, and this fact has been absolutely proven by the developments in this case."

Say Comparison Is Unfair.

Messrs. Evins and Spence take issue with the comparison of the crematory at the Atlanta and Milwaukee plants. They charge that the mayor's claim is unfair, in that it claims that the cost of operation of the Milwaukee plant is 80 cents per ton, and the guaranteed cost of operation of Atlanta's plant is 25 cents.

"In Milwaukee the city furnished its own building and smokestack, whereas the company furnished them in Atlanta, and these two items alone have cost $75,000 in the Atlanta plant." Attorney Spence explained.

Mayor Woodward declared that the total cost of the Milwaukee plant, building and stack included, was $210,-000.66. He stated Manager Bading Thursday night, and Friday morning received the following telegram:

"James G. Woodward, Atlanta, Ga.—Incinerator, $174,355; chimney, $4,485; contracts for building, $20,132; muscellaneous coal fees, etc., $11,268.66. Total cost, $210,260.66. Signed

"G. A. BADING, Mayor."

The Destructor company attorneys declare that they cannot agree with Mayor Woodward for the simple reason that he does not intend to let anyone agree with him.

Mayor Woodward says that he will positively not let the Destructor company dictate a contract to him.

TRYING TO ESCAPE LAND MEETS DEATH

Albany, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Following the killing of Officer Harris there was an all-night search, participated in by scores of men, but without finding any sign of the murderer. The search was continued with redoubled vigor this morning, and resulted in the capture of the man shortly after 9 o'clock at Walters' Crossing, on the G. S. W. & C. railway, in Lee county.

The capture was made by J. L. Akin and J. L. Reynolds, who covered the man with pistols and bound him. He refused to give his name, but admitted that he had shot Officer Harris. He told his captors that he had killed another man several years ago and had been sent to the penitentiary, but escaped.

Officers from Abany went to the scene of the capture and started back with the prisoner in an automobile. There were five men in the car with him, but before more than a mile and a half of the distance had been covered, it is asserted, that he made a desperate attempt to escape, though his hands were still tied. He had also torn himself loose from the officers, and by the assistant manager, and, upon rising the third time, began firing.

A. E. Venable, owner and general manager of the Venable works, and father of the wounded youth, told a Constitution reporter at the hospital last night that he did not know the details of the trouble between his son and Collum. He stated that the latter had encountered the youth in front of a drug store, and had insulted him. Mr. Venable said his son's wounds were not serious.

LEGISLATORS ASKED TO HEAR SERMON ON THE CONVICT CAMPS

Dr. Dunbar Ogden, who returns to Atlanta today after conducting a series of meetings at Acworth, Ga., will preach Sunday night at the Central Presbyterian church on the subject, "Christ in the Convict Camps."

The address will deal with a subject in which the whole state is vitally interested at this time, and a special invitation has been extended to the members of the Georgia legislature to be present. Dr. Ogden will probably touch on the recent incident of a prison evangelist being barred from the convict camps of this county.

"Preparation for the Coming of the King" will be Dr. Ogden's subject Sunday morning at the Central Presbyterian, continuing his series of parable sermons.

FIRED OFFICER SAYS HE'LL BARE CORRUPTION

three officers drinking whisky with inmates of the dive.

The trio admitted having been in the place at the time specified by Moon and Adams, midnight last Wednesday, but denied drinking anything but ice water. Patrolman Lon W. Evans, who was also there at the time, stated that David did not enter the house, but stood with him (Evans) on the stoop. The plain clothes men declared they had seen David drinking at a table with the negress who operated the resort.

After Wood, Bailey and David had been suspended Chief Beavers called Evans into his office, stripping him of his braid, badge and equipment, and dismissing him from the department for an indefinite period. The charge on which the chief acted was suspected perjury, and will be aired before the police commission.

Testimony in police court was to the effect that policemen had frequented the negro resort daily for the past several months, and that often uniformed men had been seen entering the house even in broad daylight. A story of a midnight brawl in which a quartet of patrolmen are alleged to have participated in the dive also reached the chief's ears. He says that he has obtained a list of names of policemen habitues of the place.

Whenever I learn definitely of a man in the department who has ever visited the place during hours of duty, except on business, I will dismiss him and prefer charges before the board of commissioners," the chief told a Constitution reporter. "I don't care how many heads fall, I'm determined to clean up the department."

Probe Protection Rumors.

He is also inquiring into rumors of protection that has been afforded the Auburn avenue dive and others of its kind. Beginning early this morning a number of patrolmen will be summoned before him for examination along this line. Several captains and sergeants will also be questioned.

W. T. Moon, a plain clothes man, who had spied on Wood and Bailey and David, admitted to Recorder Broyles that he had drunk whisky with the negress proprietor of the place, and that he had paid for both drinks. He did so, he said, to obtain evidence against the trio. He was questioned sharply regarding his failure to report the incident earlier.

Reports of his conduct with the negro girl proprietor of the place were given against Moon by one of the women under trial. He made emphatic denial of the charge. He said, however, that he had been a frequent visitor to the place, but had gone only on business. Policeman Adams testified likewise.

While he was closeted with Chief Beavers before he was dismissed, Patrolman Wood branded Moon as a deliberate liar, and declared that he could prove perjury on the plain clothes man. He also stated he would prove Adams a perjurer, and reveal conduct of which both men had been guilty in the past which would merit their immediate discharge from the department.

Revenge Is Alleged.

Policeman Wood declared that the testimony Adams and Moon had given against him was prompted by a desire to gain revenge for action Bailey and he had taken Adams and Moon several months ago, when he had arrested the plain clothes man and a reporter for the Georgian both of whom had occurred at police headquarters.

The investigation and trial Friday afternoon culminated in sensational reports which have been coming to headquarters recently accusing policemen of frequenting the Auburn avenue address and of drinking with the inmates. The arrests were made Friday morning, when Captain W. F. Terry, in command of a squad of patrolmen, raided the place.

Several demijohns of whisky were confiscated and used as evidence in the trial. Sergeant J. H. Barfield, of the plain clothes platoon, stated in court that on a visit he had made on business to the place, he had discovered a patrolman in the ball room. Upon being questioned, he says the policeman answered that he was looking for a negro girl whom the police wanted.

Chief Beavers will examine and probably take action against this man Saturday morning. A long list of witnesses, who reside and operate business places in vicinity of the resort, will be summoned before the chief in his investigation today. A number of these appeared in police court, testifying that they had often seen uniform policemen enter the place at No. 127.

Commissioner Figures.

An active figure in the investigation is B. Lee Smith, a police commissioner, who attended the trial and held a long conference with Beavers. Later in the afternoon the commissioner visited the house at No. 127, in consulting with the chief upon returning to headquarters To a Constitution reporter Mr. Smith said that the nature of evidence already unearthed tended to show that the resort evidently had enjoyed police protection from subordinate source.

Unless a call meeting is held, the police commission will not probe the charges against the five suspended men until Tuesday, July 8, on which date the regular monthly meeting is held. The witnesses will be preferred by Chief Beavers. At present they are described as "conduct unbecoming of a policeman."

The suspended officers express confidence of complete exoneration. They say that the charges are merely the outcome of an attempt to obtain revenge for petty wrongs which the plain clothes men believe have been done them. They declare their intention of producing sufficient proof to the effect that both Adams and Moon testified falsely.

Both Moon and Adams are men of long service with the department. They have been attacked to the plain clothes "vice squad" since its inauguration. Their testimony was that they had been assigned by Chief Beavers to spy on the Auburn avenue resort in effort to learn whether or not the reports were true regarding visits of policemen.

See Policemen Drinking.

They stated that on midnight last Thursday, Patrolmen Wood, Bailey and David entered the place. They were peeping through a slit in the window curtain of the reception parlor, a room used as a dancing hall. Wood and Bailey, they testified, sat first at a table in center of the room and called for whisky.

The Bradley woman poured two glasses from a jug, then helped herself to a glass. After Wood and Bailey had finished drinking the plain clothes men said David came in alone, sat at the table and ordered whisky. The Bradley woman sat opposite him, the witness stated, and drank a glass in David's honor. According to Moon and Adams, the three men did not remain longer than ten minutes. They did not see Evans.

David is apparently 35 years old. He is married and lives at 4 Battlefield avenue. He has been connected with the department for ten years. Wood is about the same age, married and lives at 413 Piedmont avenue. Bailey is 28, is married and lives at 662 Woodward avenue.

Evans is the youngest of the quartet. He is only 24. Only recently he was married to the daughter of one of the police visiting the Auburn avenue dive riot. He lives with his wife at 50 Lake avenue, and has been on the force only a few years.

Jackson Boss Police.

Judge R. R. Jackson, a well-known member of the Atlanta bar, will probably represent the suspended policemen when their trials are held before the board of police commissioners on July 8. To a Constitution reporter he stated last night that his sympathy is entirely with the suspended men, and that his prediction is that they will be completely exonerated before the commission.

In talking of the case Judge Jackson hotly roasts police methods as employed by the police department, culminated in Friday's trial in police court. He attacks the system of detailing subordinates to the task of spying on their fellow officers, saying that such methods invariably destroy all spirit of fraternalism in the department and make for inefficiency.

The investigation into the reported conduct of a patrolman in the Auburn avenue dive did not stop with Chief Beavers' dismissal of the men from headquarters last night at dusk. It was continued by Night Chief E. L. Bell and Captain W. F. Terry until as late as midnight.

A number of patrolmen were called from their beats and, upon arriving at headquarters, were questioned by the night chief and captain in the latter's office on the first floor. Although strict silence was maintained regarding these conferences, it was learned that each man was questioned relative to his knowledge of the resort at No. 127.

Some of the men examined admitted that they had visited it frequently in discharge of their duty, but that they had never gone there for any other purpose, and all are said to have denied all knowledge of misconduct in the place on the part of other policemen.

One of the patrolmen quizzed by Captain Terry was L. J. Milam, of the motorcycle service, who until Policeman Wood's suspension and subsequent resignation, was a partner to Wood. They have been in the motorcycle service together for several months. He was questioned, it is said, regarding Wood's conduct and reported visits to the place.

Two others whom the chief and captain examined were J. J. Jackson, a patrolman, who has been promoted to the place left vacant by Wood, and J. W. McDaniel, a bicycle patrolman. A number of other policemen were visited on their beats by Captain Terry.

Clean Sweep, Says Beavers.

Chief Beavers stated to a Constitution reporter last night that if any corruption existed in the department, he would quickly end it and rid the system of all guilty men. He said there was no room on the Atlanta police force for immoral characters.

"This investigation," he said, "is going to be a thorough one. As rapidly as evidence can be gathered, that rapidly will action will be taken. There will be no discrimination, no partiality.

"We are going at it sanely and sensibly. No innocent man will be unjustly punished. If any of the men suspended today are innocent, lost salary will be refunded. The innocent will not suffer, but the guilty will get it—fairly, squarely between the eyes.

"If Wood is aware of any such corrupt conditions, he need not go to a lawyer. Let him submit his evidence before me or the board of commissioners. We will take action quicker than any lawyer at the bar. If he has been a party of corruption for so long, then, it is was his duty as an officer to reveal it to me or his captain."

BLALOCK'S NOMINATION CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Position of Collector Will Be More Important and Profitable Under New Tariff.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 27.—A. O. Blalock, of Fayette, was today nominated by President Wilson as collector of internal revenue or Georgia. The nomination was later in the day confirmed by the senate.

The position or collector will be more important and profitable under the new tariff law than it has ever been, even before the passage of the dry state, for the collection of income taxes will also devolve upon the collectors of internal revenue. It will be a highly responsible and difficult task to inaugurate the new system, and much responsibility will be thrown upon the collectors.

Additional clerical help will be provided in each office. An amendment to the Underwood bill appropriating $1,200,000 for enforcement of the income tax section has been offered by Senator Williams and will undoubtedly be adopted.

DYNAMITE IS USED IN BIRMINGHAM STRIKE

Birmingham, Ala., June 27.—Police and detectives have been kept on the jump answering alarms tonight, and reports of shootings in the street railway strike are growing frequent. Dynamite on the track blew off part of a wheel on a Boyles car tonight and a stick of dynamite on the East Lake line was run over this morning without exploding. Bolts and bricks are frequently thrown at cars from the upper stories of skyscrapers under construction.

Practically normal schedules are being maintained on all lines, though uniformed policemen are kept on each car all the time.

SMITH'S SCHOOL BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Washington, June 27.—A step toward solving the question of governmental aid to the building of vocational educational schools was taken by the senate today through the passage of Senator Smith's bill providing for a commission of nine experts to study the question and report to the next session of congress.

The bill was reported temporarily to halt action on the various vocational school bills now before congress, and which have been the cause of considerable school teachers promptly; the money raised by this levy shall be placed in the treasury of this state to the credit of the school fund, and it shall be used in the payment of the salaries of common school teachers and for no other purpose.

"Sec. 2—Be it further enacted, that if this amendment ahould be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses, the same shall be entered on their journals with the 'ayes and noes' taken thereon, and shall cause said amendment to be published in at least two newspapers in each congressional district for two months previous to the next general election, and at said election voters at the next general election shall have written or printed upon their ballots the words 'Ratification' or 'Against Ratification,' as they may choose to vote, and if a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly voting, shall vote in favor of 'Ratification' then said amendment shall become a part of and of force with the Constitution of this State and the governor shall make proclamation thereof.

"Sec. 3—Repeals conflicting laws."

Besides the name of the author, the measure carries the name of Representative Slade, of Muscogee. The latter had prepared a measure along the same line, but when he found that Mr. McMichael had already drawn a bill covering the ground, he withheld his bill and placed his name on that of Mr. McMichael's.

McCrory Resolution.

A joint resolution will be introduced by Representative McCrory, of Schley, on Saturday morning, which the author thinks will meet the immediate exigencies of the situation. It follows:

"Resolved, That from and after the adoption of this resolution that the treasurer of this state shall make a list of all claims against said state according to priority and that he shall pay off all of said claims according to priority, except the wages of employees of the state and appropriations to the state sanitarium."

Mrs. W. S. Parker, of 33 Ponce de Leon avenue, Decatur, died at her residence at 9:45 o'clock last night. She is survived by her husband, W. S. Parker, and three children. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

and retiring governors. There they will be seated in chairs provided for them directly in front of the speaker's stand.

The committee on arrangements is composed of Representatives Crawford Wheatley, R. N. Hardeman and R. H. Blackburn, and Senators John T. Allen and M. E. Rushin.

Order of Exercises.

The following is the order of exercises reported by the committee and adopted by both houses Friday:

Invocation, by the Rev. J. B. Robins.

Presentation of the governor-elect to the general assembly by the president of the senate.

Administration of the oath of office to the governor-elect by the Hon. William H. Fish, chief justice of the supreme court.

Presentation of the great seal of the state by the secretary of state to the retiring governor, who shall deliver the same to the incoming governor, who, in turn, delivers it to the secretary of state.

Inaugural address by the governor.

Adjournment of the joint session of the general assembly.

Dinner at Mansion.

Following the exercises, Governor and Mrs. Slaton will dine with the retiring governor and Mrs. Brown at the executive mansion on Peachtree street. Only the immediate family of Governor Brown and Mrs. Grant, the mother of the new mistress of the mansion, will be present, besides those named.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon former Governor and Mrs. Brown will leave for their home in Marietta, where a big home-coming reception is awaiting them. The occupancy of the mansion by the new governor and his wife will begin with today.

The weatherman promises that there will be no change in the weather before Sunday, and if his forecast is made good, there should be nothing to mar the full enjoyment of the day by the crowds who will naturally gather to see the old governor go out and the new one come in.

M'MICHAEL BILL TO PAY TEACHERS

MANUFACTURERS WILL GATHER AT BANQUET

Permanent Exhibit of Atlanta-Made Goods Will Be Planned Next Thursday.

A permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods, and a better annual exhibit, will be had if the present plans of a special committee of the chamber of commerce are accepted at a banquet given to the manufacturers of Atlanta in the new Hotel Ansley Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This committee which has perfected the plans is composed of Brooks Morgan, chairman; J. T. Rose, M. M. Davies, Bolling Jones and J. K. Orr.

Every manufacturer in the city of Atlanta has been cordially invited to attend. Walter G. Cooper, secretary of the chamber, stated Friday that he expected fully 200 present, and at least 100 manufacturers to join the association at the banquet.

The banquet is going to be a genuine manufacturers dinner, with things made at home on the board. Georgia cattle and Atlanta-cured beef, Atlanta-made cigars and cigarettes and Atlanta-made punch, which will be a surprise to those who attend.

The evening dress with the fancy "weskit" is practically barred, as the manufacturers will come directly from their offices. Small tables seating six or eight will be used, so that the dinner will be as informal as possible.

This affair will formally christen the banquet room of the new Hotel Ansley, it is said, as this will be about the first formal affair held within its doors.

MRS. FISHER TO LEAVE FOR EAST NEXT SUNDAY

Mrs. "Bud" Fisher, who was the victim of an unfortunate accident in the Piedmont hotel, gashing her neck with the broken pieces of a glass water pitcher which dropped from her hands as she tripped and fell, is recuperating from her injuries, which were at first thought to be very serious. Recovering faster than her physicians anticipated, she is planning to leave Atlanta for New York with her husband, and she will undergo a three months' treatment in an effort to eradicate the scar, which is now fairly healed.

Cancelling all their summer vaudeville engagements, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will leave Atlanta Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and they look forward to a quiet rest in the east before they return to the vaudeville stage next season.

SAY BECKHAM IS BEING BOOSTED AGAINST DAVIS

Albany, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Little is known here of what is back of the fight being made by Georgia traveling men against the appointment of Joseph S. Davis to be United States marshal for the southern district of Georgia.

Colonel Dennis Fleming, of Albany, former president of the Georgia T. P. A., is said to be playing a leading part in the opposition to Davis, and traveling men are understood to be urging the appointment of J. R. Beckham, who travels for a Macon house.

FULLBRIGHT WOULD DO AWAY WITH SOLICITORS

Bill to Create Office of County Prosecutor Instead Is Introduced in the House.

The bill of Representative Fullbright, of Burke, abolishing the office of solicitor general, was introduced in the house yesterday by his colleague Representative E. V. Heath, and referred to the committee on constitutional amendments. The bill bears the names of both of the Burke representatives.

It is practically the same as the bill introduced by Messrs. Allen and Fullbright, which came near passing last year, and creates the office of county prosecuting attorney in lieu of the office of solicitor general. It follows:

The Bill in Full.

"A bill to be entitled an act to propose a constitutional amendment, abolishing the office of solicitor general and creating that of county prosecuting attorney, to provide for submitting the same to the people to be ratified and for other purposes.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia and hereby proposes to amend the constitution so as to abolish the office of solicitor general and create the office of county prosecuting attorney in each county of the state.

"Sec. 2. Amend the constitution of the state of Georgia by repealing paragraphs one and two of section 11, article 6 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Paragraph 1. County prosecuting attorney. There shall be a county prosecuting attorney for each county of the state of Georgia, and the legislature is hereby authorized to provide for the selection of such prosecuting attorney, fix their compensation, prescribe their duties and qualifications, fix the terms of such officers and make all necessary provision for carrying into effect this paragraph.

"Sec. 3. Amend paragraph 1, section 12, article 6 and paragraph 1, section 14, article 6 by striking from each of said paragraphs all language referring to the office of the solicitor general.

"Sec. 4. Be it further enacted that whenever the above proposed amendments to the constitution shall be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause such amendment to be published in at least two newspapers in each of the congressional districts in this state for the period of two months next preceding the time for holding the general election.

"Section 5. Be it further enacted that the above proposed amendments shall be submitted for ratification or rejection to the electors of this state at the next general election to be held after publication, as provided for in the fourth section of this act in the several districts of this state, at which election every person shall be qualified to vote who is entitled to vote for members of the general assembly. All persons voting at said election in favor of adopting the proposed amendments to the constitution of this state shall have written the words 'For ratification of the amendment to the constitution,' so as to abolish the office of solicitor general of this state and to create the office of county prosecuting attorney for the several counties of this state.

"All persons opposed to the adopting of said amendments shall have written or printed on their ballots the words 'Against the ratification of the amendment to the constitution so as to abolish the office of solicitor general of this state and to create the office of county prosecuting attorney for the several counties of this state.

"Sec. 6. Be it further enacted that the vote on said amendment shall be consolidated as now required by law, and if a majority of the votes cast shall be for said amendment, the governor shall, by proclamation, declare said amendment adopted and cause the same to be published as the law directs.

"Sec. 7. Repeals all conflicting laws."

FIRST BILL OF YEAR WAS PASSED FRIDAY

Point Raised Over Counting Votes of New County Members—Flood of Bills.

As soon as the house got down to business Friday morning the bill presented on the first day of the session by the Bibb county delegation calling for a special election, July 15, to choose a United States senator came up for a third reading and passed the house by a vote of 160 to 0.

This was the first bill to pass the house this year and one of the earliest bills to pass any house in a number of years.

Representative Wimberly, of Bibb, gained the floor early and called for the third reading of the bill. There were objections from Representative Fullbright, of Burke, who introduced the bill, questioning the legality of the election of Representatives Browning, of Bleckley, and McArthur, of Wheeler, upon the ground that if the senatorial election bill were allowed to go before the house for a vote before the question of the legality of these two seats had been settled it might affect the legality of the result of the vote.

Mr. Fullbright, however, withdrew his objections on account of the urgency of the election and the fact that the remainder of the house was willing to have the vote taken.

The committee of nine from the house to investigate the legality of the seats of Browning and McArthur, which met Friday afternoon, was named as follows:

Representatives Fullbright, of Burke, chairman; Griffin, of Lawnces; Slater, of Bryan; Miller, of Bibb; Hardeman, of Jefferson; Gower, of Crisp; Wright, of Floyd; Blackburn, of Fulton; Picquet, of Richmond.

The governor's message outlining his policy toward the Western and Atlantic railroad matter was read.

Upon the calling of the roll a brisk fight for position on the house schedule ensued. Bills, world without end, were introduced. To the surprise of many the roll call was reversed, placing many bills much further down the schedule than they would otherwise have been.

The following bills were introduced:

By Mr. McMichael of Marion—A bill providing a special levy of 1 mill for two years only to provide funds to pay teachers promptly.

By Mr. Merry of Whitfield—A bill to amend the charter of the town of Tunnel Hill.

By Messrs. Field and Smith of DeKalb—A bill authorizing an election in Lithonia to qualified voters to decide on the issuance of bonds to build city hall.

By Mr. Thompson of Madison—Two bills to incorporate the town of Danielsville.

By Mr. Paulk of Ben Hill—Two bills to amend an act repealing the provisions calling for the three commissioner districts and regulating the term of office.

By Mr. Brinson of Jenkins—A bill to take Jenkins county from the middle circuit and place it in the Augusta circuit.

By Mr. Pickett of Terrell—A bill authorizing the commitment of habitual drunkards.

By Mr. Warren of Turner, Mr. Clements of Irwin and Mr. Paulk of Ben Hill—A bill to rearrange the Albany and Cordele judicial circuits.

By Mr. Evans of Screven and Mr. Fullbright of Burke—A bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into the state of Georgia.

By Mr. Picquet of Richmond—A bill providing that every administrator shall give bond to amount of estate.

By Mr. Sheppard of Sumter—A bill to regulate the employment of children in kinds of labor.

By Mr. Oliver of Richmond—A bill to amend section 5645 of the code of 1910.

By Mr. Anderson of Murray—A bill to change the county site of Murray county.

By Mr. Wheatley of Sumter—A bill to incorporate the city of Americus.

By Mr. Wimberly of Bibb and Messrs. Wohlwender, Swift and Slade of Muscogee—A bill directing the duty of the governor in calling out the militia in case of a riot.

By Mr. Meadows of Ocoee—Constitutional amendment to prevent the sale of the W. and A. railroad at any future time.

By Mr. Garlington of Richmond—A bill requiring executors to file liens on land only in the county where recorded.

By Mr. Grimes of Miller—A bill creating a board of county commissioners for the county of Miller.

By Mr. Grimes of Miller—A bill to establish the city court of Miller county.

By Mr. Smith of Fulton—A bill to prohibit untrue and misleading advertisements.

By Mr. Johnson of Montgomery—A bill to create the new county of Treutlen.

By Mr. Davidson, of Putnam and Mr. Sparks of Toombs—A bill to regulate the time of foreclosure on mortgages.

By Mr. Strickland of Pierce and Mr. Myrick of Chatham—A bill defining the meaning of larceny.

By Mr. Ledbetter of Polk—A bill providing for state and county boards of tax returns and valuations.

By Mr. Moye of Johnson—A bill to abolish the office of solicitor general in the state and to create the office of county attorney.

By Mr. Hardeman of Jefferson and Mr. Moss of Cobb—A resolution authorizing the payment of the salary of the insurance clerk.

By Mr. Slaton of Bryan and Mr. Taylor of Laurens—A bill to require the publication in a newspaper of monthly and quarterly itemized statements of receipts and disbursements of public funds.

By Mr. Meadows of Wayne and Mr. Suggs of Haralson—A bill providing for the punishment of incest.

By Mr. Greene of Houston—A bill to define the term "investment company."

By Mr. Estes of Lincolnton—To provide for the registration of written contracts.

By Mr. Rhodes of Clarke—To appropriate $50,000 for the state normal school.

By Mr. Shuptrine of Chatham—To increase the limits of directors of navigation purposes.

By Mr. Meison of Clayton—To prohibit the sale or carrying of a pistol less than 16 inches long.

By Mr. Lee of Lee—To provide for the future employment of felony and misdemeanor in all convicts.

By Mr. Clark of Dougherty, Mr. Wimberly of Bibb, Messrs. Swift, Slade and Wohlwender of Muscogee—To provide for additional qualifications of electors.

By Mr. Culpepper of Meriwether and Mr. Swift of Muscogee—To provide for the publication of the reports of the supreme court and court of appeals.

By Mr. Meadows of Wayne and Mr. Brookshere of Lumpkin—To require that the surrender value of life insurance policies be subject to taxation.

By Messrs. Swift, Wohlwender and Slade of Muscogee—To authorize all counties to elect or appoint county police. Also to establish the status of a colored person in Georgia.

By Mr. Cole of Bartow and Mr. Wright of Floyd—To create a qualification book for the voters of Georgia.

By Mr. Atwood of McIntosh—To make free transportation of sheriffs and deputies on Georgia railroads illegal.

By Mr. Foster of Floyd—To regulate pensions of soldiers.

By Mr. Carter of Appling—To amend an act regarding qualified voters.

By Mr. Moye of Johnson—To change the time of court in Johnson county.

By Mr. Brinson of Jenkins—To rearrange the middle and Augusta judicial circuits.

By Mr. Reiser of Effingham and Mr. Myrick of Chatham—To requiring automobile owners to register with city clerks.

By Messrs Fullbright and Heath of Burke—To abolish the office of solicitor general and to create that of county prosecuting attorney.

By Mr. Ransom of Chattooga—To make it a misdemeanor to give a check without sufficient funds in bank to cover it.

By Mr. McWhorter of Greene—To provide for the adjournment of court in reference to the illness of the presiding judge and to refuse adjournment or postponement merely for vacation purposes.

"Swivel-Chained Admiralty"

Attacked by Schley Howard Favoring More Midshipmen

Washington, June 27.—An attack upon the "swivel-chained admiralty" of the navy by Representative Howard, of Georgia, in a running-fire debate that preceded the passage in the house today of the senate bill to increase the number of midshipmen at the naval academy.

Mr. Howard declared that the "swivel-chained admiralty, composed of men who could not command a flat-bottom batteau, to say nothing of a battleship, who would get seasick 200 yards off shore," were in the navy because of political pull. He said he saw no necessity for difficult examinations for entrance at Annapolis.

OUACHITA PRESIDENCY ACCEPTED BY JAMESON

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Definite news came tonight that Dr. S. Y. Jameson, former president of Mercer university, has accepted the presidency of Ouachita Baptist college, at Arkadelphia, Ark. It was generally known that he would do so if a debt which had been hanging over the college should be wiped out. This has now been done.

Dr. Jameson's family leave for Rome tomorrow, and after spending a week there will join Dr. Jameson in Arkansas.

Fire at Leesburg.

Leesburg, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Last night the barns and stables of the Leesburg Naval tSore company, at this place, were totally destroyed by fire, incurring a loss of over $1,000. There was no insurance. The fire was discovered at about 12 o'clock at night.

LEGISLATIVE COURAGE.

Georgia legislatures are not lacking in courage and statesmanship. Two striking illustrations are afforded in just the past few years.

It took nerve and it took statesmanship to repeal the convict lease system. That one act wiped out of the state's budget a source of revenue that would today probably exceed $500,000 per annum.

It took nerve and statesmanship to enact a state-wide prohibition law. That legislation took large revenues from the state's income.

No one criticises either one of these actions, per se. Both comprise constructive statesmanship of the highest type. The man who suggested returning to the lease system would be laughed out of public life. The man who sought to return the crossroads groggery or the open standing-bar to Georgia would share the same fate. These two measures are simply in the line of inevitable progress. They are fixed parts today of the state's policy.

But combined, they wiped a huge block out of the state's income, increased still farther by the repeal of the dog tax. The statesmanship that developed the courage to materialize two great moral reforms must develop also the courage to supply the revenue thus depleted. Otherwise, the state of Georgia will stand branded with cowardice. Elsewhere, W. R. Fullerton, of Atlanta, elaborates this feature in a striking communication. He declares Georgia has for years been dealing dishonorably with its school teachers. He asks significantly if their problems would not long ago have been righted had they been men and voters. That is a challenge we believe the legislature will meet at this session.

Fortunately, the general assembly realizes the gravity of the situation. The response to the appeal of The Constitution and the people for tax reform and for justice to teachers has been a marvelous legislative development. Speaker Burwell and President of the Senate Anderson are on record. Representative L. R. Akin, slated to head the ways and means committee of the house, and Representative Wheatley, slated for the appropriations committee; Senator Stark, scheduled for the senate appropriations committee, and Senator Miller, scheduled to head the ways and means committee, express themselves unequivocally and emphatically to the effect that—

Relief for the teachers and revision of the state's fiscal system takes right-of-way over every other legislative consideration this session.

These members will be in a position largely to guide the actions of the legislature. Their commitment means much. But it is the duty of each member, from the youngest to the oldest, from the newest to the most powerful, to join these leaders in the non-partisan task of doing justice to Georgia's teachers and redeeming the state from its unjust and disreputable system of taxation.

EASY WALL STREET.

The country will take with more a laugh than a frown the story from Washington to the effect that someone has been trying to sell Wall street a gold brick. It seems that some enterprising gentleman, as yet unnamed, phoned various attaches of the street and offered to deliver bodily the influence of Speaker Clark, Leaders Palmer, Fitzgerald, Henry and others who inhabit the seats of the mighty.

One of the most humorous features of the situation is that several Wall street enthusiasts were gullible enough to at least investigate the project. That goes far to bear out the assertion that devotees of this short but loud little thoroughfare afe among the most superstitious and credulous of our citizens.

The other joke is that Wall street, famous the country over as a gold-brick artist, operating though with delicacy and finesse, should be regarded as a fit subject by one of the obviously vulgar variety. Verily, the silly season is on in full blast.

"SEPTEMBER MORN"

Chalk up one decided exhibit of common sense to the postoffice department in Washington. It has admitted "September Morn" to the mails. The picture that has been talked about from Maine to California and threatened apoplexy to several Chicago policemen, may now circulate freely without fear of arrest by Uncle Sam.

The furore over "September Morn" is just another instance of that prudery of which this country needs to be purged. The man who sees scarecrows in every beautiful bit of nude art ought to take a course in clean-mindedness. Logically, he ought to reverse the mirror each time he indulges in a bath, if his sensibilitites are so delicate.

There is little danger that public morals or the morals of children will be impaired by obscene exhibits as long as a decent public opinion rules this country. If this identical picture had not been made famous by the prudists it is doubtful if any Americans save appreciative art students would have known the difference. But self-appointed public censors took it on themselves to find evil where it did not exist, and to spread the news broadcast. The result is that people are told to approach an innocent work of art with downcast eyes and bated breath.

What a few of our citizens need is a good strong dose of common sense. If they will but turn to the nearest beach, they will see sights more shocking than this dimpled little lady of the autumn.

RULED BY DEAD MEN.

"One dead man kills the votes of two living men who favor municipal bond issues." That's the way Judge John S. Candler puts the effect of the present law covering bond issues, which requires two-thirds affirmative vote of those registered for ratification. The same influence is exerted by the stay-at-home voter or the voter away from town on election day.

Judge Candler cited these conditions as bearing on the municipal needs of Atlanta. He declared, in a recent interview, that no one questioned Atlanta's need for improvements in every direction. He said also that any citizen with the slightest familiarity with the city's finances knew these needs could not be met out of current income. He is chairman of a subcommittee charged with finding a way out of the difficulty. He believes, as one preliminary, that the present general assembly ought to submit a constitutional amendment letting the decision of bond issues rest with those voting and not with those simply registered.

The idea is thoroughly sound. The press throughout the state has taken to it enthusiastically. If their expressions count for anything it is evident that the predominant sentiment in Georgia favors such a change in the organic law.

It is hard enough, under the most favorable of conditions, for any community to insure progress where expenditure is involved. The overwhelming majority generally is for progress. The tight-wads, reactionaries and honestly conservative—a combination usually in the minority—must be overcome. The burden of proof is always upon the man who advocates improvement.

To the customary handicap it is unfair to add others from dead men, from indifferent men or from men whose absence temporarily disfranchises them. The man with a due regard for his rights and his pocketbook will go to the polls. He would not be penalized by an amendment deciding bond issues by those voting and not by those registered. The only ones affected would be voters and dead men.

There is no danger that a change would tempt to extravagance. The organic law already forbids a municipality to bond itself for more than 7 per cent of its assessed valuations. Besides, cartloads of those who honestly oppose all bond issues is another check. The chief danger is to progress, health and improvement, which may be jeopardized by the rule of dead men or apathetic citizens.

TO PROBE GEORGIA

The story published several weeks ago to the effect that Georgia spent, annually, $37,000,000 more for foodstuffs than she received for the crops gathered, has gone the rounds of the entire nation. It has now become the subject of a resolution introduced in the legislature by Representative R. O. Cochran, of Fulton county, providing for a state commission which shall inquire into the agricultural and industrial conditions of Georgia.

Mr. Cochran cites the fact that this big deficit has been charged against the producing power of Georgia. He declares it is time to ascertain its truth or falsity, and, if true, to provide a remedy.

He is correct. Not in recent years does The Constitution recall one statement so productive of controversy. If Georgia is thus far overlooking her agricultural possibilities, we should know the conditions. If she is not, the state should be relieved from the indictment.

Mr. Cochran would create for Georgia a commission equivalent to the country life commission which accomplished so much in the way of recommendation and remedy for America. His plan is worthy the attention of those legislators who recognize how inseparably agriculture is intertwined with the destiny of the state.

In summer I'm happy, when the sunshine does its best
An' makes the world so lovely, that the angels cannot rest!
When the tall corn shakes his tassels an' his vines are on the run,
An' love is in the lilies, makin' friends of every one!

In fallstime an' in winter—jest any time, you know,
I'm happy in a world that dreams of heaven that loves it so;
Jest any sort of weather that the good Lord sends along,
With a thankful heart that trembles to the music of a song!

SEEDS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

This day is a day of Sowing of Seed for you. Every day is. So is every Hour—every Moment. Every successful man or woman is a Harvest. By seeing the Harvest you know the name of the Seed that was Sowed.

The Harvest depends largely upon the Quality of Seed Sown.

When you give the best that is in you to the work at hand you Sow one kind of Seed. When you slight or neglect your work you Sow another grade of Seed. And the truest fact in all this world is, that—

The Harvest always reveals the kind of Seed Sown.

As you Think, so will you Work. Every effort is a Seed of some sort or other. If it is an honest, enthusiastic, full-hearted effort, its result at Harvest time will be great. And an abundance of these kinds of Seeds, means an Abundant Harvest.

In the Sowing of Seeds it is most important to Sow them in the most fertile ground.

You will gain the most out of life by expending your energies and talents where they will count for the largest results. Work where your interest is greatest, and where your Heart throbs warmest. And as you Sow your Seeds of Smiles and Cheer and Service keep constantly in mind that—

The more Seed you Sow, the greater will be your Harvest.

FOR SALARY RELIEF TEACHERS MAKE PLEA

Homer, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The common school teachers of Banks county have gone on record in a ringing appeal to Governor-elect Slaton for a readjustment of the system that not only pays them "paltry salaries," but makes them wait indefinitely for payment of any sum at all. At a recent meeting of the Banks County Teachers' Institute and Educational association resolutions were passed which recited the conditions that prevail in Banks, as in other counties of the state. Those signing the resolutions are Oscar Brown, George M. Chambers, Misses May Henderson, May McGilliard and Irene Payne.

Demand Cash System.

Among other things, the resolutions state that—

"We, the members of the Teachers' Institute and the Educational Association of Banks County assembled, do most cordially and respectfully call your attention to the paltry and delayed salaries of the teachers of our state, and ask you to join us in an undivided effort to remedy the evil by procuring us a cash salary system. It ought to be done, we believe it can be done, and with your help it will be done. We believe that it can be done by the exercise of the power vested in you as governor, if a wise and proper disposition of the public school fund be made.

"We do not understand why the governor and all the state and county officials, who receive salaries, even to the janitors, should not get their pay promptly, and the teachers are last and required to await the bidding of the powers that be.

"We make this appeal to you in good faith, recognizing your unquestioned ability and devoting to the educational interest of Georgia, that we are going to rely on you to correct this evil and place the teachers of the state on a par with other officials who are paid promptly for their services, and on warrants issued by the same authority of law.

"With best wishes for you and a successful administration, we, the within and foregoing is respectfully submitted."

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 27.—(Special.)—The results obtained in the highly successful corn-growing contests inaugurated by the department of agriculture has led the department to plan for all kinds of competitions and demonstrations in agricultural work and farm home economics.

No less than twenty-eight different contests have been proposed. If the idea bears fruit as did the corn-growing contests scheme, the farmers of the United States and their wives, sons and daughters will be working for prizes in almost every line of their daily activity.

The department has just issued a booklet which points out the advantages of the contests, gives the complete list of the competitions proposed, and furnishes the forms for regulating the entries and the steps to be taken in the contest. This book is intended primarily for the use of lecturers on the farm-extension projects, at granges, clubs and agricultural schools. However, it is none the less interesting to every one who is interested in farm and garden products, which includes about everybody in the country who gets or tries to get three square meals a day.

Proved Widely Popular.

The contest plan has been so readily adapted to most lines of endeavor, and has offered so many opportunities for the securing of desirable and needed results that it has proved one of the most popular movements ever inaugurated for interesting the people in active work for individual and community betterment. Through the contest many lines of work are being advanced and progressive principles being applied. They demand the actual doing of things and develop a spirit of loyalty among the people of any community. The football, baseball or other athletic contests makes the city, school or college a unit for the support of its team. In like manner the educational contest brings the people of all sections of township, county, state or nation to the support of the movement, and gives to these people a deeper appreciation of the merits of those engaged in the various lines of activity.

Perhaps the greatest good derived from the contests is that they do much to broaden the knowledge and viewpoint of the contestants. The boy who takes part in the corn-growing contest is developing a nucleus of good citizenship. He is not alone content with the planting, cultivating and harvesting of the crop, but studies all the literature regarding corn growing which he can secure. He sees the vast possibilities of his plot of ground under ideal conditions; he endeavors to secure these conditions by studying the leaks in his growing methods and in striving to overcome them. He tries to grow a larger number of bushels, but at less cost. He also seeks to become more proficient in the work, to extend his knowledge of the various phases of that branch of agriculture.

Over 200 Bushels an Acre.

Improved methods and greater efficiency are the direct results of such contests. Through corn-growing contests that have been held in almost every section of the corn-growing belt it has been demonstrated that more than 227 bushels of corn may be grown on a single acre of ground. Without improvement in the ordinary methods of corn cultivation this astounding result never could have been accomplished.

Through similar contests some farmers have learned that they were producing eggs during the winter at a cost of about 40 cents per dozen. One competition, carried on in a neighborhood showed that the cost could be reduced to 8 cents per dozen. As a result of this work new methods have been introduced. The attempt is being made to produce eggs of a better market quality at a lower cost, and to improve all forms of agricultural practice. It is to this end that the department of agriculture is undertaking to widen the field of contests until it is included practically everything done on the farm and in the farm home.

These contests vary so widely in their nature, conditions and adaptability that no specific outline can be given for their organization. The department advises, however, that contests which are to reach large numbers and cover considerable period of time should be well outlined and thoroughly organized. It is suggested particularly that young people's contests should be organized in connection with schools, thus securing the support of the teachers and other school officials.

Premiums Prove Attractive.

It is found that contests have greater attractions if they have the direction and support of, or are affiliated with, some recognized educational institution. The matter of premiums has been found of great importance. While the contest has for its primary object the giving of inspiration, creating interest and disseminating information among the members of the boys' and girls' community, it is found that premiums are necessary to secure the best results. Also the influence of the contests will be greater if it is possible for 50 per cent of the contestants to win prizes than for 5 per cent to get recognition.

As to the nature of premiums, that is essentially a matter of local consideration. The department urges that cash premiums be not used, except in unusual instances. It recommends that the prizes should be educational in character—a trip to the state fair, the national corn show, or to the national capital.

New Contests Projected.

Here is the list of twenty-eight contests which the department outlines:

Corn-growing contests and contests in wheat growing, sugar beet growing, cabbage growing, onion growing, tomato growing, potato growing, melon growing, pig feeding, egg producing, milk productions, stock judging, weed and weed seed collection, butter making, bread making, fruit canning, insect collecting, farm planning, sewing contests for girls, of various ages, and for women, lunch box preparation, home decorations and furnishing, cellar planning, kitchen planning, household expense accounts, compositions on homes and flower garden making.

In each instance the contestants are to be required to write essays about what they have accomplished, and this is regarded as one of the most important features of the contests from an educational standpoint.

The World's Mysteries

THE SHAKESPEARE HOAX

The literary world has ceased to expect any further recovery of anything respecting William Shakespeare or in any way representing his writings. For close up to centuries, however, following his death, the hope existed that he had left behind him much that was as yet unknown. Every channel was closely scrutinized in the hope of finding something that would further add to his already great fame. For that reason there were a number of hoaxes foisted upon the public as coming from Shakespeare, but what was the most astonishing are the manuscripts which are known as the "Ireland-Shakespeare Forgeries."

These forgeries, or hoaxes, were given to the public in and closely following the year 1795. They "are" about in a peculiar way, and no one has ever been able to explain their origin. One of the greatest admirers of the Bard of Avon was one Samuel Ireland. The slightest scrap of writing, referring even indirectly to Shakespeare, was to Samuel Ireland a treasure of priceless worth, and an autograph of the bard himself was a thing meriting almost the reverence of idolatry.

In 1795 Samuel Ireland's son, who was eighteen years old, and who understood his father's love for the "one day" placed in his father's hand a deed bearing the "signmanual of William Shakespeare." The father was greatly overjoyed, and called at once all the antiquaries and Shakespearean enthusiasts of London. It was looked upon as so authentic that it was some time before any inquiry was made by these scholars as to where the manuscript was obtained. Young Ireland told a story of having obtained it from a gentleman who found it among his numerous papers and gave it to him with the sacred promise that the giver's name should be kept carefully concealed. The honorable Mr. Byng, Sir Frederick Eden, and a great many other literary men, declared that where this one deed had been found there undoubtedly existed that great mass of papers which had been long sought for in vain by commentators on Shakespeare.

Young Ireland was urged to try to obtain more papers. He was clever enough to do so, producing letters, pamphlets, poetry and finally an unknown play by Shakespeare. The literary world was in great excitement. Among the noted men who saw and implicitly believed in the authenticity of the Shakespeare papers was Dr. Samuel Parr, Herbert Croft, the Earl of Lauderdale, Valpy, Sir Isaac Heard, Jonathan Hewlett, translator of the Old Temple records, and James Boswell. But perhaps the most remarkable name on the list was John Pinkerton, the historian and antiquarian, whose experience in antique writing may be held to have exceeded that of any other man of his day.

The new Shakespeare play that Ireland had discovered was called "Vortigern and Rowena." This more than anything else excited the literary world. The announcement of this new play brought out an attack from Malone, one of the few who denounced the Ireland papers as forgeries, although he was probably actuated more by a bitter jealousy of the invasion of his province as collector of Shakespeariana than by any other motive.

The great theaters were eager for the play and Drury Lane was the successful competitor, Sheridan being then at its head. James Henry Pye, the poet-laureate, and Sir James Bland Burgess, contended for the honor of writing the prologue to the piece. The 2nd of April, 1796, was the day appointed for the presentations and all London looked with eagerness to the event.

But there was one man who knew Shakespeare too well to be misled, like others around him. That man was John Kemble. That actor did take the part of "Vortigern," but he took it at the command of his superiors, and did not hesitate to call the whole production a forgery. At the first performance, when he came to the line—"And when this solemn mockery is o'er"—he pronounced it in so pointedly scornful a manner that an irrepressible clamor ensued in the crowded house, and settled the fate of Vortigern forever.

The public was not to be hoaxed. It knew the mettle of their illustrious favorite too well to be deceived. Young Ireland confessed that it was all a forgery, but those duped were never able to learn who had assisted the boy in the deception, for no had not the ability to write a play and pass as "Vortigern and Rowena," even had he been able to imitate Shakespeare's handwriting.

"ARE SOLONS BRAVE ENOUGH TO DO TEACHERS JUSTICE?"

Editor Constitution: Your editorial, "A State Demands Action," is commendable, and is the renewing of a long drawn-out fight which is a blot on the fair name of the great state of Georgia.

It is a wonder how a state with so varied resources could so unfeelingly impose for forty long years on ten thousand of her helpless servants.

A solution has been found for nearly every other problem that has confronted us as a state in the course of these years except the payment of the county teacher. But it remains a large number of our teachers are women and are not feared at the ballot box, or is it because no one has been wise enough to offer a solution?

Doubtless all our financial ills can be cured by remedying our moth-eaten system of taxation. There will, without doubt, be objections to this in some quarters. That must be expected when millions of acres of farming lands in Georgia that cannot be bought for from $50 to $100 per acre are being given in for taxation at $7.50 to $10 per acre. We had just as well put the blame where it belongs—in the country.

Our country legislators were brave enough to spring the prohibition issue and drive liquor from the state. Will they be equally as brave in settling the question of tax equity? We shall see.

Remember, gentlemen, when you have this question up for settlement that you have only to open your eyes to find tens of thousands of illiterate adults of voting made so by our poor system of paying teachers and if our lawmakers whittle and whittle over this question as formerly, thousands more will grow up and join the ever-increasing number.

Will not every one in Georgia who believes in common justice speak now?

"NEGLECTED COUNTRY TEACHER LEADING FACTOR IN GEORGIA"

—C. J. Barrett

"More important than any governor or statehouse officer or United States senator is the country school teacher of Georgia and she is being shamefully neglected by the state and often forced to discount her salary at from 8 to 30 per cent." That is the verdict of Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Union, who speaks with authority, since he was himself once a country school teacher in Georgia. Mr. Barrett visited Atlanta yesterday and was interviewed by The Constitution.

"I cannot too highly commend The Constitution," continued Mr. Barrett, "for its campaign to secure justice to this supreme class of those who are molding the citizens of tomorrow. The city teacher gets his or her salary, and it is promptly tendered with that of the country teacher, promptly. The country school teacher must wait, in many cases for a full year, after the salary is earned before it is paid. The salary is small enough at best, barely enough to keep body and soul together. Very many times, the pledge for that salary is taken, by force of circumstances, to a shylock and discounted for a fraction of its value. The condition that obtains this spectacle indicts the commonwealth of Georgia. It gives the state an unwelcome and unlovely advertisement throughout the nation.

Function of Teacher.

"Few Georgians recognize the importance of the function of the teacher.

"It is easy to say that the teacher is equipping the youth of tomorrow. But when we think that the majority of the state's children spend more hours with her, at least more of their waking hours, than in the home or with their mothers, the significance of the work that is done in the schoolroom is appreciated.

"The effects of that work is going to show in the Georgians that will dominate the coming generation. It depends upon the teacher whether they shall be well-informed, mentally vigorous and productive or slipshod. What sort of teachers are we securing for the youth of the state when we subject them to this sort of treatment? Why, it is a great surprise that our educational system has not gone to pieces years ago.

"The legislature will do a lasting service to the state if it corrects this condition. It should not go home until it does justice to the men and women who are training the citizens, the fathers and the mothers, of the next generation."

American Architecture.

(From the Chicago Journal.)

American architecture has two starting points—the home and the office. In both it has done much copying and experimenting and made not a few mistakes. But in both it is winning to solid ground at last and achieving new, beautiful and lasting work.

The typical office building is the steel skyscraper. This, when treated as a skyscraper, is one of the most impressive forms of architecture on earth. Not to mention local examples, the West Street and Woolworth buildings in New York, have a beauty all their own—a towering grandeur which owes little to builders of any earlier age.

No single type of building will become universal as a home in a country as vast as America. The colonial house, the "mission" house, the bungalow and many other forms are used by progressive architects. The French chateau has left a lasting impress on the designing of more costly homes. But the age of imitation is past. Homes nowadays are being built for comfort and beauty, not in servile copy of "classic" styles.

NEW PROPOSITION TO EXTEND W. & A.

Senator Sweat's Joint Resolution Looks to Carrying State Road to Jacksonville.

A resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to look into the matter of extending the Western and Atlantic railroad to Jacksonville through Fort Valley, Waycross and St. Marys was introduced in the senate Friday morning by Senator J. L. Sweat, of the fifth district.

The Southern railroad is the owner of a line extending from Atlanta to Fort Valley, which it is understood the company would dispose of and the Atlantic, Waycross and Northern Railroad company is the owner of extensive terminal facilities at the port of St. Marys with a line to Kingsland, which it is also understood could be purchased by the state.

From Kingsland to Waycross and from Waycross to Fort Valley it would be necessary to build a line along the Ridge Route where the conditions are such as to render the cost of railroad construction unusually cheap. From St. Marys to Jacksonville, the railroad center and gateway to the state of Florida, is only a short distance.

The idea embodied in the measure of Senator Sweat is a plan to use or construct the necessary lines in order to make a complete system from Chattanooga to Jacksonville and that this line should either be taken in active charge by the state or rented for a long term.

Would Yield Big Revenue.

The author of the measure, in speaking of his plan, states that such a great trunk line would tend to fix and establish reduced rates for freight and passenger traffic, thereby benefiting the public at large, and especially the people of this state if controlled by the state, or if leased would yield the state an immense revenue, sufficient to relieve the people of the state from the burdens of taxation.

The proposed commission is to consist of five citizens to be selected by the governor, two of whom shall be expert railroad builders, one lawyer, and two practical business men, who shall inspect the entire proposed route and report fully to the general assembly next summer.

The commission is to be paid at the rate of $4 per diem and all expenses, including a stenographer and all witnesses. The resolution was referred to the W. & A. committee.

Agriculture in Schools.

Another bill of importance was the bill of Senator W. H. Bloch, of the eighth, to require the teaching of agriculture in the state schools of Georgia. This measure is only applicable to towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants and to any school supported in any way by the state.

The author, in speaking of the measure, stated that the state would be divided into seven agricultural districts, similar to congressional districts, and for each of these districts the state school commissioner was authorized and instructed to appoint a supervisor of agriculture, who, under him, should directly supervise the teaching of agriculture in the various schools. The entire system would be under the supervision of the state school commissioner.

Senator J. W. L. Brown, of the forty-second district, introduced a bill providing for an increase in the maintenance of the department of agriculture of $10,000, which $10,000 is to be spent on prizes at the various state fairs.

New Bills Introduced.

New bills introduced in senate Friday follow:

By Bush of the Eighth—A bill to make unlawful the drinking of liquor on trains and to prohibit intoxicated persons from riding on trains.

By Bush of the Eighth—A bill to require the teaching of agriculture in the public schools.

Resolutions Ask Mass Meetings In Towns Along Line of W. & A.

Adairsville, Ga., June 27.—(Special.) At a mass meeting held here, presided over by Mayor H. M. Veach, the question of the disposition of the state's railroad was discussed and a memorial was issued to the towns along the line to hold similar meetings and appoint committees for conference about the matter.

To the end that the people may be heard who come in daily contact with the problem, it is the desire of the towns along the road to get together and present their views to the coming convention that is proposed to be held in Atlanta.

It was the idea of the mass meeting, just held, to get similar meetings held and let these meetings appoint a conference committee and then these several committees will meet at some convenient point to have a general discussion. This general meeting could then select a delegation to attend the Atlanta convention and place the views agreed upon to that body.

The mass meeting held here did not express any opinion as to the disposition of the road, but they are simply studying the situation and hope to do what is best for all concerned.

ter of the Twenty-seventh and Burtz of the Forty-first—A bill to revise jury lists.

By Stark of the Thirty-third—A bill to amend an act creating the city court of Jefferson.

By Bush of the Eighth—A bill to make the state superintendent of schools a member ex-officio of board of trustees of the District Agricultural schools.

By Bush of the Eighth—A bill to amend an act incorporating the city of Colquitt.

By Bush of the Eighth—A bill providing for fencing of all railroad rights-of-ways in Miller county for the protection of live stock.

By Searcy of the Twenty-sixth and Smith of the Ninth—A bill fixing the salaries of state stenographers.

By Brewster of the Forty-second—A bill raising the support of the department of agriculture from $10,000 to $20,000, the additional $10,000 to be spent in prizes at state fairs.

By Sweat of the Fifth—A bill providing for the appointment of a commission to look into and report upon the extension of the W. & A.

By Kea of the Sixteenth—A bill to prohibit children under 16 years of age from visiting disreputable places in the delivery of messages or packages.

By Kea of the Sixteenth—A bill regulating working hours in cotton and woolen mills.

By Kea of the Sixteenth—A bill to require proper ventilation, heating and toilet facilities in factories and workshops.

By Kea of the Sixteenth—A bill authorizing the department of commerce and labor to designate where seats for females shall be placed.

By Parrish of the Seventeenth—A bill to create the new county of Milledge.

By Olliff of the Fourth—A bill to require holders of life insurance policies to return cash value thereof for taxation.

By Mozley of the Nineteenth—A bill to divide the new counties shall be established in Georgia.

By Elkin of the Fifteenth—A bill to allow husband to testify against wife in certain criminal cases.

By Elkins of the Fifteenth—A bill to provide that defendant in criminal case shall make no statement, but may be sworn in his defense.

By Smith of the Ninth—A bill making defendants subject to cross-examination.

By DuBose of the Thirtieth—A resolution providing for a standing senate committee on insurance.

MAKES DRAWING BAD CHECK MISDEMEANOR

A bill which has received the indorsement of the bankers' and the merchants' associations of the state, making it a misdemeanor to draw checks without funds in the bank to meet them, was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Shelby Myrick, of Chatham. It is as follows:

"A bill to be entitled, An act to make it unlawful for any person to make, draw and utter any check, draft or order where the drawer has not at the time funds sufficient to meet the same, provided said drawer does not, within five days after demand, deposit with the drawee sufficient funds to meet the same, to provide punishment therefor, and for other purposes.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the board of education of each county and each municipal school board of education, in this state, to require a census to be taken of all school children residing within their respective jurisdictions, between the ages of 7 and 12, to be taken during the month of Jnauary of each year, which census shall not only show the name, age and color of each child, but also the name and address of the parent, guardian, or person having the custody and control of each child. Said census shall be taken by school districts and the expense of the same be paid from the common school fund of the county, provided that the expenses of taking such census in towns and cities having a local school system shall be paid out of the school fund of such town or city.

Must Attend Sixty Days.

"Sec. 2. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid that all parents, guardians, or other persons having the right to control a child between the ages of 7 and 12 years, shall cause such child to be enrolled in, and attend some school for as many as sixty days in the public schools during each school year, provided this requirement shall not be made where such child is over twelve years of age or physically unfit to attend school, nor where the nearest school house is more than 3 miles by the nearest practicable route from the place of residence of such child.

"Sec. 3. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid that it shall be the duty of the executive officer of each school board, either county or municipal, to compare the final reports of the teachers under their respective jurisdiction with the census, provided for in section 2 of this act, for each year, and to make up a list showing the name, age and color of each child on said census that is not shown by said teacher's reports to have attended school for the required sixty days, also the name and address of the parent or person having the custody of such child.

Punitive Provisions.

"Sec. 4. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid that the respective municipal and county boards of education shall have the authority and are hereby expressly granted the power to summons before them the parent, guardian or other person having the custody of the same of any child whose name appears on the list of those who have not attended school for the required time, and show cause why such child has not complied with the requirements of this act and where no reason satisfactory to such board is shown, to impose a fine upon such person of not less than $10 nor more than $25 for each child. The hearing provided for in this section shall be at a regular meeting of such board, and the summons shall be served not less than five days prior to such meeting and may be served either by a member of the board in person, or by a legal notice issued by the county, and when served by a constable he shall receive a fee of 35 cents, to be paid by the board issuing such summons.

"Sec. 5. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid that any person upon whom a fine has been imposed by the board of education as provided in section four of this act, who fails or refuses to pay the same for the space of thirty days after the imposition thereof, shall be liable to prosecution before the state court of the county or his or her residence, at the instance of such board, as only for a misdemeanor, for a violation of section two of this act, and if convicted of violating said section shall be punished by a fine not to exceed that imposed by the board plus the cost of the case in the court. It being expressly and distinctly provided that the failure to pay the fine shall constitute no part of the criminality, but shall operate only to secure to the party failing or refusing to pay it a trial before the state court, having jurisdiction thereof, on the question of violating the provision of section two of this act.

"Sec. 6. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid that all fines paid to said municipal or county school boards under the provisions of this act shall go into the school fund of the respective boards, and the fines imposed by and collected through the courts after deducting the cost shall be equally divided between the school board prosecuting the case and the treasury of the county.

"Sec. 7 Repeals conflicting laws."

WELTNER TO SPEAK ON "PENOLOGY AND JESUS"

Sunday will be observed as assembly Sunday at the English Lutheran church, corner Trinity avenue and Capitol place, and the members of the state legislature are most heartily invited to attend the special service at 11 o'clock. At that hour Philip Weltner, general secretary of the Prison Reform association, will make an address on "Penology and the Principles of Jesus," and will treat directly with reform legislation which it is hoped will be effected at this session.

Railway Mail Men Meet.

The Atlanta branch of the Railway Mail association will hold a mass meeting Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Railroad Young Men's Christian association. The meeting will be under the directions of the Benevolent association of the R. M. A., and will be addressed by some of the leading officials of the southern branch of the Benevolent association, and organization which has for its object the promotion of closer bonds of friendship among men who work in railway mail cars. One of the features of the Benevolent association is attention to its sick members and the burial of the dead, together with a benefit for the families of those members who die in the discharge of their duties.

WOULD COMPEL PUPILS TO ATTEND SCHOOLS

Fullbright Bill, Introduced Friday, Includes All Children Within Ages 7 to 12.

Representative Henry J. Fullbright, of Burke, introduced his bill for compulsory education in the house yesterday morning. The measure requires the county and municipal boards. Of education to take a census of all school children between the ages of 7 and 12 years, and authorizes them to compel the attendance at school of all such children within their respective jurisdiction for a period of at least sixty days in each year. The bill follows:

Copy of Bill.

"A bill to be entitled an act to require the attendance of children between certain ages upon some school for at least sixty days during each school year; to provide means of enforcing the same, and for other purposes.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the board of education of each county and each municipal school board of education, in this state, to require a census to be taken of all school children residing within their respective jurisdictions, between the ages of 7 and 12, to be taken during the month of Jnauary of each year, which census shall not only show the name, age and color of each child, but also the name and address of the parent, guardian, or person having the custody and control of each child. Pryor St. Presbyterian Will Open New Building On Eleventh Anniversary

The congregation of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church will worship in the main auditorium of their new building Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Fitting services to celebrate the completion of the building will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, which is also the eleventh anniversary of the church.

The speakers for the occasion will be Dr. Ogden, of the Central church; Dr. Walker, of the First; Dr. Flinn, of North Avenue; Dr. Little of Westminster; Rev. Fritz Rauschenburg, of Colliers Park; Dr. Preston and Mr. W. H. Wright. John F. Pickard will give a brief history of the church.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERS HOUSE SEAT CONTESTS

The committee of nine representatives, appointed from the house Friday morning to investigate the legality of the seats of Browning, of Bleckley county, and McArthur, of Wheeler county, met in the speaker's room at the capitol Friday afternoon, but reaching no decision in the matter, adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The main point of contest is the constitutional limitation of the number of representatives to 184, while the admission of those two representatives of new counties would give a total of 186, thus laying the legislation of this session of the assembly open to attack upon its validity. Representative Fullbright, of Burke county, introduced the resolution contesting the seats Wednesday morning.

Of the two members whose seats are contested, only Mr. Browning, of Bleckley, was present at Friday's committee meeting.

The committee is as follows: Representatives Fullbright, of Burke, chairman; Griffin, of Lowndes; Slater, of Bryan; Miller, of Bibb; Hardeman, of Jefferson; Gower, of Crisp; Wright, of Floyd; Blackburn, of Fulton, and Piequet, of Richmond.

BOTH HOUSES RECEIVE CHILD LABOR BILLS

With the introduction of two bills in the general assembly on Friday, one in the senate and one in the house, a determined fight upon child labor in Georgia was begun.

The bill in the senate, introduced by President Randolph Anderson and Senator Fred Kea, provides that, after 1913, no child under 12 years of age shall be employed in Georgia factories; after 1914, no child under 13 years of age shall be employed, and, after 1915, no child under 14 years shall be employed.

The measure also provides that no child between the ages of 14 and 16 years shall be employed unless he can read and write ordinary English sentences, repealing the former act upon this point.

The bill in the house, introduced by Sheppard, of Sumter, makes practically the same provisions as the bill in the upper branch.

The bills have been approved by the Georgia Textile association.

TEN ONE-LEGGED MEN AS COURT WITNESSES

Edwardsville, Ill., June 27.—Ten one-legged men sat in a row in court here yesterday when the suit of Walter Taylor against the Commonwealth Steel company of Granite City was called. Taylor seeks damages under the workmen's compensation law for the loss of a limb.

An effort to settle for $1,700 was made by the company and the one-legged men were in court to testify that a man crippled as Taylor is can find employment which will pay him from $2 to $3 a day. Their testimony was not heard as the court referred the case to a board of three arbitrators.

Dr. Ridley Will Lecture.

Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, of Central Baptist church, will give his lecture on "The Longest Pole Knocks the Persimmon" at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, July 3, at the Central church. The lecture is given at the request of the Sunday school and all the friends of the congregation and pastor are invited to attend. For several years Dr. Ridley was on the platform as a lecturer, but gave it up for the passorate and only lectures occasionally.

DR. SOMMERFIELD GETS $1,000 DAMAGE VERDICT

Dr. J. E. Sommerfield, of 300 Washington street, received a $1,000 verdict in superior court yesterday from the Georgia Railway and Power company for injuries to himself and damage to his automobile as a result of a collision with a street car on March 19, 1912, at Hill street and Glenwood avenue.

According to the plaintiff, the corner where the accident occurred is dangerous on account of a store being directly on the corner and shutting off the view. It was also claimed that the street car was needlessly run and that its brakes did not stop it when the motorman endeavored to apply them. The suit was for $10,000.

Dr. Sommerfield was represented by Attorneys Dorsey, Brewster, Howell and Heyman, while the street car company's side of the case was presented by Colquitt & Conyers.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS TO MEET FOR CONTESTS

Declamation, athletic, spelling, music and recitation contests will be the interesting events that will take place in Athens next week, when several hundred high school teachers gather for the sixth annual meeting of the high school association.

The conference will begin on Tuesday, July 1, and will last through Friday, the contests being held on the last day. The winner of the debate will be awarded a $150 set of books and a $300 scholarship of Brenau conservatory will be the prize in the music contests.

Daily sessions of the conference will take place, with lectures by Dr. H. A. Hollister, of the University of Illinois; Irwin Southwick, of the department of Expression; Miss Elizabeth Holt, of Augusta; President R. P. Howe, of Thomaston, and a number of other well known lecturers.

PISTOL "TOTERS" ARE IN FOR A BAD YEAR

Bill of Fowler, of Bibb, Makes Carrying Concealed Weapons Felony—Others Coming.

It is evident that pistol "toters" are coming in for serious attention at the hands of this legislature. The following bill, making the carrying of concealed weapons a felony, was introduced in the house this morning by Representative Ben Fowler, of Bibb:

The Fowler Bill.

"A bill to be entitled an act to define and punish persons guilty of carrying concealed pistols and for other purposes.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the, same, that from and after the passage of this act any person having or carrying about his person, unless in an open manner and fully exposed to view, a pistol shall be guilty of a felony and punishable by confinement and labor in the penitentiary for a term of not less than one (1) year nor longer than three (3) years, but on the recommendation of the jury trying the case, when such recommendation is approved by the judge presiding on the trial, said crime shall be punished as a misdemeanor.

"Sec. 2—Repeals conflicting laws."

A bill by Representative Fullbright of Burke, prohibiting the sale of pistol cartridges to all who have not a license to carry pistols, will be introduced at the earliest opportunity.

Why the Trust Company Makes the Best Administrator

Heirs Finally Get Judgment for Small Part of Estate

A case recently settled in the ordinary's court of a south Georgia county, and to which wide publicity was given in the Georgia press, tells of a heavy loss sustained through the conduct of the personal administrator. The heirs who, six years ago, received only $8,000 from an estate valued at $20,000, brought suit against the administrator for the amount claimed to be due, and were given a judgment by the ordinary for principal and interest amounting to $7,110.

From the foregoing facts which were related more in detail in the Atlanta newspapers, it seems the heirs of the estate received only about 60 per cent of its value in something more than six years, and 60 per cent of the amount realized is in a JUDGMENT AGAINST THE ADMINISTRATOR, which is yet to be converted into cash.

In the hands of the

all estates are wound up and distributed as speedily as possible, with due regard to their best interests, and no single beneficiary has ever complained of the loss of one penny that was due.

Crackers Play Billies—Motorcycles Buzz Tonight

WHIFFS

Time for Action.

THE CRACKERS are in the most peculiar position of any team that ever played baseball in the Southern League. Atlanta fans and scribes are a unit in declaring the team a strong one. The pleas of the other seven cities in the circuit admit it, though not as brazenly, of course. Yet the team is not in the position that its natural strength entitles it to. Why?

Consistency.

FIRST and foremost, the main trouble has been the lack of consistent, day in and day out pitching. Understand, we do not say winning hurling stand, we do not say winning hurling, gets to be steady enough in and day out sameness, it will become consistent winning hurling, as consistency begets confidence. Pfeffer and Conzelman alone have been consistent. The others, and there have been many, have been in-and-outers. This inconsistency on the part of the hurling corps has made the rest of the team play the same kind of ball.

Concerted Action.

MORE concerted action is necessary. The team is formidable on the attack, in so far as straight, slam-bang tactics go. But its strength in several other departments has not been utilized as it should, and the standing shows it. For instance, Long, Welchonce, Bailey, Alpermann, Agler, Island and Smith are all modestly built men. The first three named are as fast as any in the league, yet in team-play stealing, Chattanooga and Nashville are the only teams that are poorer base runners. A little more recklessness on the lines is needed.

Other Faults.

ERRORS at critical times by men who are better than average fielders, and on plays that should be easy outs, have figured largely in several of the games kicked away, and when there was no apparent reason why the bobbles should creep in. The team as a whole should field better than it has. The infield looks as good as any in the league, and the outfield, taking everything into consideration, takes its hat off to none. Yet, as a team, the fielding of the locals is next to last. New Orleans only being poorer.

Gone to Waste.

THUS the powerful attacking strength of the locals has been practically offset by errors at critical times, lack of control of the bases, inconsistent pitching and, we might add, inability to sacrifice and some errors of omission, not chargeable in the box scores, but which, considering the thinking ability of the men on the team, makes the omission errors look the more palpable.

Not Knocking.

WHIFFS is not knocking. It is the prerogative of all sporting editors to criticise a ball club. We're with the club tooth and nail and always have been. We hate to see such a good club kick away such a fine opportunity to win a pennant by lack of concerted, consistent action. How to correct the faults mentioned is not in our province. That's up to Manager Smith, and we merely trust that he will be able to find the key to the situation before many more days have slipped past. Stars at the pitchers first, is our suggestion.

Same Opinion.

IN READING the comments of the sporting editors of the other papers around the Southern league, the same opinion is expressed. One scribe says: "Give the Crackers three consistent pitchers and the team will play consistent winning ball. But until reliability on the mound is secured, they cannot be expected to play consistently."

Come On, Billy!

MANAGER Smith had better look to his laurels. Two of his former pupils have walked away with pennants in little leagues. Perry Lipe copped the first half of the pennant with his Savannah Sally league team, and Otto Jordan certain to win the first half with his Valdosta team. The first half in the Empire State league ends today.

In Error.

WHIFFS was in error in its statement yesterday morning, that the Crackers could not realize on the sale of but two of the players, owing to optional agreements now existing. It now develops, on closer investigation, that Conzelman, Musser and Long are the only men on the locals' roster who do not belong to the Crackers outright. Pittsburg has a string to Conzelman, and Washington to the other two.

Crackers Give King Brady Some Brilliant Support; Locals Squeeze Out a Win

By Herbert Caldwell.

Memphis, Tenn., June 27.—(Special.) Demonstrating that a baseball team today may look and perform like an entirely different aggregation tomorrow, the Atlanta Crackers did that very thing when they took the second and get-away series from Memphis this afternoon, score 2 to 1, and incidentally made it two out of a three-cornered series.

Brady was the stingy thing in pinches, and a number of almost Memphis runs never matured, and thereby hangs the tale of why Atlanta won, and why Memphis lost. Brady was found for a total of ten hits, three more than were accumulated off Newton, but the visiting chunker kept his hits so well scattered and so scarce in pinches that only one run was the best Memphis could do with their efforts.

First Tally.

The very first Cracker to face Newton made the circuit for the first count. Long opened with a single, was sacrificed to second by Welchonce, and scored on Alpermann's single.

Both teams worked along until the sixth frame, when each put another run over.

The Crackers started the sixth with a single by Smith. Bisland acted a martyr, and Smith went to second. Agler followed by beating out a slow roller to Butler. Smith taking third on the attempt at first. Chapman lined to Baerwald, who dropped the ball, but threw to second in time to head off Agler. But while all this was going on, Smith crossed the rubber with the winning Atlanta run.

With one out, Love started the sixth for the Turtles with a single shot to left field. Ward beat out a slow grounder to Smith. Schweitzer crashed one to center, scoring Love and sending Ward to second. Schweitzer was caught off first base and Ward headed for third. Chapman turned the attack upon Ward, and the local third-sacker was run down, but Schweitzer moved on to second. Abstein was an easy out though, and a Memphis hope went glimmering.

Turtles' Big Chance.

Memphis tossed away one of the best chances they probably ever had to tie a game in the eighth. With one gone, Love singled for a starter, and then stole second. Ward shot a grounder to Bisland. In an attempt to head Love at third Smith dropped the ball and all hands were safe. Schweitzer walked, and the bases were jammed. Abstein grounded to Smith, and Love was headed off at home.

Shanley ended it by sliving out to Alpermann. Memphis threatened again in the ninth, but a threat was all. With two out to work on, Merritt was sent in as a substitute for Newton, and singled over second base. Baerwald flew out to Alpermann and Butler forced Merritt at second.

Of the accumulation of seventeen hits off both pitchers, all were of the single-shot variety. With the exception of the two frames when Atlanta scored, the Crackers hardly ever threatened. Newton pitched good ball except in these two rounds, and was well supported.

Gulls 3, Vols 1.

Mobile, Ala., June 27.—W. Robertson pitched better ball than Beck and Mobile gave their pitcher better support, Mobile winning the last game of the series from Nashville 3 to 1. Mobile scored a run in the first with a hit and Beck's wildness, and Nashville tied it in the fourth on a single, sacrifice and single. The winning runs came over on a hit batsman, a single, which Young let get through him, and a wild pitch. Robertson gave the Nashville team only four hits, two of them scratches, and was a puzzle in all but one inning.

Montgomery, Ala., June 27.—Birmingham got but one hit off Manning today, yet took the deciding game of the series by a score of 5 to 0. The locals made seven errors. With the bases full in the fourth, Carroll got a safety to left, which scored one run, the bases and both filled on errors, every infielder making at least one error in this inning.

M'NEIL-RICHARDS MATCH TONIGHT

Daring Motorcyclists to Settle Supremacy — Other Light Riders Meet in the Other Events at Motordrome.

Standing of the Riders.

Rider.	First.	Second.	Third.	Total Points.
Richards.	4	2	0	28
Renel.	0	2	2	14
McNeil.	2	0	1	13
Shields.	0	1	3	10
Graves.	0	1	0	4
Lockner.	0	0	1	3

Some new riders are going to smash into the standing table at the Atlanta track tonight. Manager Jack Prince has worked up a new program for tonight's meet that promises more excitement and less certainty about the winners than any offered thus far this season.

In the first place he has grabbed Jack McNeil and Wilmer Richards and taken them out of the sweepstakes and purse events entirely. And because they are the best riders at the track and have the fastest machines he has matched them for a series of races, three in all, at 3 miles each, for a purse of $100.

In this series of races will be settled for the first time the question of supremacy between the two. They have met six times. Twice McNeil has had his machine right and has won. Four times it has not been right, and Richards has won. Between them they have divided all the first prizes of the season. Tonight they will race it out to a finish. The man who wins will be the fastest performer at the motordrome.

Other Riders Joyous.

With McNeil and Richards out of the two stake races, look what corkers they will be! Eight riders will take part, four to each heat and four in the finals. Of the eight riders, Renel, Shields and Graves have each won second money at least once. Lockner has also won a third prize. Apparently these men will be the contenders.

But then Henry Lewis proved in a lot of ways to be the hero of Wednesday's meet, and ought to be heard from. He won a heat from Glenn and Lockner in most impressive fashion, and is some 50, too, is Harry Glenn. Each race with the Atlanta lad has been a little better than the last, and he is about due to turn up the winner.

In fact, the sweepstakes and the purse tonight are as open as an amateur marathon. And the riders are out for blood. Their goats threatened to leave them, owing to the constant string of victories by McNeil and Richards. With these two out of the way they will fight out for grub money in deadly earnest.

The races tonight will start at 8:15. Cars will leave Five Points at short intervals. Manager Noon Hudson, who was away Wednesday night, will be back on the job as starter.

Next week there will be only one meet, but that will be on the night of July 4. A big special holiday program will be put on at that time.

MANUSH SIGNED FOR UTILITY ROLES

Former Pelican Star Will Probably Take George Lohe's Place—Will Join Crackers Sunday.

Memphis, Tenn., June 27.—(Special.) Frank Manush, formerly of the New Orleans Pelicans, but recently unconditionally released by Charley Frank, was today signed by Manager Smith as utility player.

Manush has been in this city ever since his release. He will leave here tomorrow night for Montgomery to join the Crackers.

When asked about this trade President Calloway, of the local club, said it was the first he had heard of it.

Just what will be the outcome of the trade is not known, but it is presumed that Manush will take the place of George Rohe as the Crackers' utility player. If Manush's injured leg has mended completely he will be quite an improvement on the present utility man.

Manush played thirty-odd games with New Orleans this season before he was released.

Conzelman Faces Billikens In Opening Game of Series; Billikens Lead the Locals

Joe Conzelman, the Cracker's star right-hander, will probably by Manager Smith's hurling selection in the opening game of the series with the Montgomery Billikens this afternoon.

If Conzelmap twirls the kind of ball that he has in his first four starts, he is certain to score his fifth successive win since he joined the team. It is not his turn to pitch, but the boy has asked permission to twirl the game, and the local manager is not adverse to granting it in view of the fact that he continues to win.

Elmer Brown will probably be the opponent of the local team in this engagement, and a pitchers' battle is sure to be the result.

The engagement with the Billikens comes to a close Monday, and Tuesday, the Crackers open up their final series of the present road trip by battling the Mobile Gulls in Gulltown, appearing back home again Friday for a double-header with the New Orleans Pels.

Jack Johnson Has Escaped; Laws Prevent Extradition

Washington, June 27.—Jack Johnson has made good his escape from the United States, for the time being at least, and can neither be extradited nor deported from Canada, according to the latest official view here.

Johnson, it has been learned, is traveling on a tourist ticket and Canada cannot return him because her immigration law doesn't exclude a transient alien in such circumstances. Johnson's offense is not extraditable in Canada.

Officials here were making an effort today to have the negro returned to this country under Canadian immigration laws, but it has failed.

If the United States circuit court of appeals sustains Johnson's conviction his one-year sentence for violating the white slave law will be enforcible any time he returns to the United States.

BIRMINGHAM MAY BENCH LAJOIE

Game's Greatest Infielder and Batsman Has Just About Reached End of His Rope, It Is Said.

Chicago, June 27.—Manager Birmingham, of the Cleveland Americans, admitted today that he might retire Napoleon Lajoie as "regular" second baseman of the team. He said, however, that for a time Lajoie probably would continue to hold his old place. Turner is slated to succeed him as second baseman, but there is no intention. Birmingham said, of letting Lajoie get away from the team, since he is hitting in his old-time form, and is still a good fielder.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 27.—The benching of Napoleon Lajoie by Manager Birmingham would remove from active service one of the oldest stars of baseball. He has been slowed up by injuries which kept him out of the game several weeks after he had apparently started on another successful season.

This was Lajoie's seventeenth season in major league baseball. From 1897 to 1901 he played in Philadelphia. Since then he has been with Cleveland, part of the time as manager.

By many he is rated as the greatest hitter that ever lived. Since 1897, his yearly averages have been: .363, .328, .379, .346, .422, .369, .355, .381, .328, .338, .299, .289, .324, .384, .365, .368, .325.

He is 38 years old.

NAT THORNTON WINS TOURNEY

Battles Carleton Smith in Challenge Round Today for Southern Tennis Championship—Doubles Are On.

New Orleans, June 27.—By winning his match with J. B. Adone, of Dallas, in the finals today of the Gulf States tennis tournament, Nat Thornton, of Atlanta, will meet Carleton Smith, of the same city, tomorrow in the challenge round for the title of southern singles champion, won by Smith last year. Today's score was 6-4, 6-1, 4-1.

The semi-finals in doubles scheduled for today were postponed on account of rain. These and the finals will be played tomorrow.

GEORGIA TENNIS PLAY POSTPONED

Finals in Doubles Go Over Until Next Week—Players Are Now Playing in New Orleans.

The finals in doubles in the Georgia state tennis championship, which were postponed last Saturday on account of the rain and set for this afternoon, must go over until next week.

Grant and Thornton and Mansfield and Smith, the two contesting teams, are in New Orleans playing in the southern tennis tournament there. They expected to return today, but the tournament, due to rainy weather, stretched out a day longer than was expected.

One set was played last Saturday, Grant and Thornton winning, 6 to 4, and one game had been decided in the second set when the downpour came. It is coincident that these same teams met in the semi-finals for the southern championship at New Orleans yesterday.

CHAMP M'LOUGHLIN ONLY AMERICAN LEFT

Wimbledon, England, June 27.—The first break in the ranks of the victorious quartet of American players in the English lawn tennis championship tournament occurred this afternoon when Craig Biddle, of Philadelphia, went down before W. Ingram, one of the younger representatives of the British talent. The victory was a surprisingly easy one, the score being 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 6-1.

The captain of the Canadian Davis cup team, R. C. Powell, also failed surprisingly against Hope Crisp, a student of Cambridge university. Kreutzer, a very strong German player, was successful over the veteran Englishman and former champion, A. W. Gore.

Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, quickly followed his compatriot into retirement, being beaten by the English player, R. Watson.

R. Norris Williams, after playing three sets against Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, retired in favor of his colleague on the United States Davis cup team.

The American champion is thus left alone of the United States representatives to try to fight his way to the final round.

The American contingent suffered a further reverse, this time in the doubles, in which Craig Biddle, of Philadelphia, and Harold H. Hackett, of the United States Davis team, were beaten by two Englishmen—W. Ingram and Bentley—three sets to two.

GEO. RODEL DEFEATED BY GUNBOAT SMITH

New York, June 27.—Gunboat Smith, of California, tonight defeated George Rodel, the South African Boer, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

After Rodel had been knocked down twice, Referee John stopped the bout.

Hooper and Goldstein To Join the Law Firm Of Little and Powell

On July 1 the membership of the well-known Atlanta law firm of Little & Powell will consist of John D. Little and Judge Arthur G. Powell, will be increased by the entrance of Frank A. Hooper and M. Goldstein.

The firm will be known in the future as Little, Powell, Hooper & Goldstein, and promises to be one of the strongest legal organizations in this section.

Both Judge Powell, who was formerly a member of the court of appeals and Mr. Little are widely known as among the most learned of Georgia's attorneys and the two new members of the firm both have enviable reputations.

Mr. Hooper is at present in the public eye as a result of his having been retained to assist Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey in the prosecution of the indictment against Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, which comes up July 28. He will retain that connection, but the firm as a firm will not be connected with the case.

For twelve years Mr. Hooper served the southwestern circuit as solicitor general. A few years ago he removed to Atlanta from Americus to become general counsel for the Empire Life Insurance company, since which time he has been prominently identified in professional circles here.

Mr. Goldstein is a graduate of the University of Georgia and also of Yale, and while he only came to Atlanta four years ago, he has already established an enviable record here, and is regarded as one of the strongest young attorneys in the city.

Sixty Lamas Burned.

St. Petersburg, June 27.—Sixty Mongolian lamas were burned to death today in a pagoda at Kwei Hwacheng, in the Chinese province of Shansо, on the border of Mongolia, according to a dispatch received here. They had barricaded themselves in the building against a number of Chinese pursuers.

MEYER GIVEN PARDON BY GOVERNOR BROWN

Freedom for Man Who Killed Woman for Having Insulted His Sister.

Governor Brown this afternoon commuted the sentence of Lep Meyer, of Macon, to present service. Meyer killed a woman in a disorderly house something over a year ago, and was tried before Judge Felton and convicted of manslaughter, and received a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary at the hands of the trial judge, K. J. Hawkins, of the Dublin circuit, who tried the case for Judge N. E. Harris.

It was one of the most sensational murder cases in Macon in recent years. Meyer's defense was that his sister had been insulted by some one calling her up from the woman's house.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Lep Meyer, who was today granted a pardon by Governor Brown, was convicted here thirteen months ago of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Mary Moore, a woman of the underworld, and was sentenced to serve twenty years in the penitentiary by Judge K. J. Hawkins, of Dublin.

At the trial it was alleged that the Moore woman had insulted Meyer's sister, Miss Bessie, over the telephone, and that night Meyer, accompanied by his brother and another friend, went to the house run by the woman to find out what had done the telephoning. An argument arose between Mary Moore and Meyer, and the former tried to fight her husband to get her pistol. As she did, Meyer drew his gun and fired into the ceiling. By this time Mary Moore had secured her gun and as she turned toward Meyer he shot her down.

After his conviction Meyer did not appeal, it having been decided that he should take his medicine and base his hopes on securing an early pardon.

Meyer was the killing Meyer was a singer in local motion picture houses and had borne a favorable reputation. His sister and other relatives were overjoyed today at the news that he has been pardoned. It is not expected that Meyer will reach Macon before next Monday or Tuesday, time of his arrival his relatives are planning a big jollification.

To Decide Bell Suit.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—In the superior court tomorrow, Judge H. A. Mathews will decide the suit of Thomas L. Bell et al. against the Georgia Life Insurance company for an injunction to restrain the company from changing its name to the Georgia Casualty company and reducing its capital from $500,000 to $300,000. The case has been pending before the court for several weeks.

Several months ago the stockholders of the company voted to sell the life department of the company, and the deal was closed with a Maryland company. Then three small stockholders who did not approve the action brought the injunction proceedings.

The company claimed that the suit has injured the standing of the company and that a cross bill has demanded damages of $50,000.

Oppose Sparks' Proposition.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—The proposition of W. D. Sparks to sell 200 acres of land three miles north of the city to the city for park purposes will be opposed by a number of the city fathers and will probably be defeated.

The land is offered to the city at $250,000 and a great many people think that it is an ideal site for a pleasure park. Council takes the position that the land is not so located that it could be used to the best advantage and also that the price asked is too high. It is claimed that it would cost $200,000 to put it in shape for use, even after the purchase price is paid.

Woman on Street "Braces" Savannah Chief of Police And Raid on House Follows

Savannah, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—For keeping a lewd house in the business section near the city market, John Veruki, a Greek, today was sentenced in the city court to a fine of $1,000 or a term of twelve months on the chaingang.

In imposing the sentence Judge Freeman said that the offense of which Veruki was accused was a very serious one.

Veruki is proprietor of a near beer saloon, restaurant and rooming house. A woman frequenter of his place "braced" Chief of Police Meldrim, who was in citizen's clothes, and the raid followed.

MORE INTENSE HEAT FOR THE MIDDLE WEST

Chicago, June 27.—Intense heat, with no relief in sight for the next few days, is predicted for Chicago and the middle west in a special bulletin issued today by Henry J. Cox, of the weather forecaster for this district.

The special bulletin reads:

"Fair weather and intense heat will continue throughout the middle west for a period of several days, there being no relief whatever in sight."

Despite a brisk breeze from the west, the thermometer was 88 at 9 o'clock and was slowly rising.

JUDGE BROWNE FINED BY CITY RECORDER

Mobile, Ala., June 27.—Samuel B. Browne, judge of the circuit court of Mobile county, was fined $10 or ten days in jail by City Recorder Eddington this morning on the charge of disorderly conduct. The case was the result of an altercation in the courthouse yesterday, during which the judge is alleged to have used decidedly drastic language.

LANFORD AND FELDER INDICTED FOR LIBEL

Indictments Grew Out of the Dictagraph Episode and the Letters Which Followed.

Formal investigation into the invectives hurled between Colonel Thomas B. Felder and Detective Chief Newport Lanford resulted yesterday in indictments of criminal libel being returned by the grand jury against each of them for their cards and interviews in the daily papers in which they attacked each other's character, after the dictagraph row.

Colonel Felder is held under two indictments on a bond of $500, while Chief Lanford has one indictment against him, and is free on the same bond.

The offenses charged against each are misdemeanors, and the punishment, in case of conviction, is six months in the county jail, twelve months in the penitentiary or a fine of not more than $1,000. It is in the discretion of the judge to impose any or all of these penalties after conviction.

In order to come clear at the trial it will be necessary for the man indicted for criminal libel to prove that the charges he made were true, and it is expected that the cases will develop into the most bitterly fought in the history of the Fulton courts.

Felder Will Not Talk.

Shortly after his indictment Colonel Felder appeared in the solicitor's office and was told of the two indictments. He appeared to think for a moment that he was being jollied. When he saw the bills his only comment was that he "didn't give a darn."

He refused to make any further statement on the matter and declined to discuss what steps he would take to clear himself of the libel charges.

Chief Lanford made only the comment that he could prove every charge he had ever made against Colonel Felder, but he declined to discuss the matter at length.

Both Colonel Felder and Chief Lanford are indicted for the articles that appeared in The Atlanta Constitution and other Sunday papers on June 8, and Colonel Felder is also indicted on another bill for criminal libel in connection with his famous letter addressed to "The People of Atlanta," and published in The Constitution of May 25.

It was in the latter article that Colonel Felder referred to the detective head as "Lieutenant Becker of our system" and also charged that since the arrest of Leo M. Frank and Newt Lee, charged as suspects in the murder of Mary Phagan, that the detective chief had been protecting them.

It is charged in the bill of indictment that Colonel Felder did maliciously, unlawfully and intending to injure and vilify the reputation of Lanford, write and cause to be published the letter referred to, a great part of which is copied upon the indictment.

Charges Against Lanford.

The indictments against Colonel Felder and Chief Lanford for their articles of June 8, which appeared in the Atlanta papers, are practically similar in form. Lanford is charged with calling Colonel Felder "a contemptible liar and a scoundrel," and accusing him of grafting and of pretending to raise a fund for the prosecution of the murderer of the Phagan child.

Colonel Felder's article on June 8 was full of bitter invectives against the detective chief, whom he accused of graft, and who, he declared, was a disgrace and dishonor to the office he held.

All three of the indictments were returned as "special presentments" by the grand jury, which indicates that the investigations leading up to them were taken up at the volition of the members, and that no outsider appeared as prosecutor.

The only witnesses used in finding the basis for the indictments were newspaper men by whom the grand jurors proved that the articles in question had actually come from the men whose names were given as the authors of them.

In all the grand jury probably put less than an hour's time upon the question before returning its true bills, and the case was taken up in the interim of routine criminal business.

No Comment on Speer.

Washington, June 27.—Attorney General McReynolds had no comment to make today on the attack of Judge Emory Speer on the course of the department of justice in investigating federal judges.

BATEMAN NOT GUILTY SAYS EXCUSED JUROR

Defense Claims Rothleutner Has Made Mistake in Identity in Larceny After Trust Case.

The defense of Judge J. N. Bateman, the Atlanta attorney, charged with larceny after trust and accused with others of unlawfully taking $9,000 from Frank Rothleutner, a Nebraska stock dealer, is to the effect that Rothleutner has made a mistake in identity, and, according to Juror J. W. Hughes, who was excused from duty yesterday afternoon, there is no basis for a conviction of Judge Bateman.

It was the original intention to finish the case Friday, but when at 5 o'clock only one argument had been heard, Judge L. S. Roan, presiding in the criminal division of superior court, announced that he would postpone the case until Saturday morning. Juror Hughes then stated that a pressing matter connected with his kin people at Cedartown made it necessary for him to be there Saturday morning. Rather than attempt to complete the case Friday night the lawyers on both sides agreed to dispense with the jurysman and to finish the trial with eleven jurors.

It was after he had left the courtroom that Juror Hughes made the statement in regard to the case. He declared that in his opinion the state had introduced no evidence to show that the Atlanta was actually a member of the gang which Rothleutner claims fleeced him out of his money by means of fake bets on horse races.

The defense introduced evidence Friday morning to show that Judge Bateman was not in Miami at the times that Rothleutner says he was there in company with J. H. Blake and A. H. Brown, and posing as a man from St. Paul, Minn., head of the gambling combination.

The case will probably be concluded before noon today.

WEATHER OF SATURDAY TO DUPLICATE FRIDAY

While a cloud and threatened rainstorm cooled off the atmosphere yesterday afternoon and caused the temperature to drop from 94 degrees at 2 o'clock to 81 degrees within an hour, the weather will be practically the same today as on Friday, according to the weather forecast.

No thunder showers are promised for today, but a disturbance over Texas, which is slowly moving this way, presages thunder showers for Sunday and possibly Monday also, and with the rain should come lower temperatures.

COOPER ENTERS RACE IN SIXTH DISTRICT

Makes Announcement for Congress Following That of J. W. Wise, of Fayette.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—The announcement by Hon. J. Walter Wise, of Fayetteville, that he will again be a candidate for election to congress from the sixth district, in August, 1915, to succeed C. L. Bartlett, brought Attorney John R. Cooper, of Macon, today the announcement that he will again oppose Wise.

Last year the race was between Bartlett, Wise and Cooper, the finish being in the order named. This year it is believed that the race will be between Wise and Cooper.

Discussing the situation today, Mr. Cooper said:

"Yes, I am in the race again, and while it is still a little early to state my intentions, I am doing so that my friends may not be in doubt as to what I am going to do. My race last year was more of a feeler than anything else, and in the race next year I expect to show a few of them something. I do not anticipate that there will be any other entries besides Wise and myself. Bartlett has already given his word that he will not run again, and we consider that point finally settled."

SAM JONES' WIDOW CRITICALLY ILL AT CARTERSVILLE HOME

Cartersville, Ga., June 27.—(Special.) Mrs. Sam P. Jones, widow of the late Georgia evangelist, who has been critically ill at her home in this city since Saturday last, is reported as very much improved.

Mrs. Jones has been in delicate health for several weeks, but her condition was not considered serious until Saturday last, when a severe attack of heart weakness caused her to collapse.

All of Mrs. Jones' children are at her bedside, and hundreds of inquiries come to the home regarding her condition. Her friends over the country will be glad to learn through this announcement that she is improving.

SOCIETY

MISS CORINNE TEBAULT TO WED MR. HOWARD HARPER

Dr. and Mrs. C. Hamilton Tebault, of New Orleans, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Corinne, to Mr. Howard V. Harper, the wedding to take place Saturday, July 5. Miss Tebault is a granddaughter of the late David G. Bailey, of Griffin, Ga. She has frequently visited friends in Griffin and Atlanta, of the engagement The Times-Democrat has the following notice:

"Miss Tebault is a great favorite socially, and one of the most accomplished and loved members of the unmarried set in society here. She has taken a prominent place in literary circles of New Orleans recently, where she is much in demand for her clever work. The family have always been especially prominent here, and Mr. Harper, who was formerly of Pennsylvania, also is well known. The engagement had not been announced until very recently, and therefore will be a surprise to many, and the wedding will be one of the most interesting to take place in New Orleans this summer."

To Miss Irwin.

Judge and Mrs. Beverly Evans will entertain on Thursday evening in compliment to their guest, Miss Beverly Irwin, of Americus, inviting to meet her several of the school set.

Yesterday Miss Irwin was a matinee guest of Miss Lucile and others will entertain.

Dancing Party.

Miss Ina Heard gave a delightful dancing party last night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Heard, on Piedmont avenue.

Many young people were assembled to meet Miss Mildred Heard, of Monticello, who is visiting Mrs. Heard and Miss Lillian Bingham, of Augusta, the guest of Miss Virginia Thrash.

Mrs. Allen Entertains.

Mrs. Hugh Allen gave a pretty card party yesterday afternoon in compliment to Miss Louise Cooper's guests, Miss Conner and Miss Graves, of Columbus.

Pink sweet peas and ferns decorated the house and dainty refreshments were served. The prizes were a silver picture frame and stockings.

Mrs. Allen was gowned in white embroidered batiste.

Miss Beck's Tea.

Miss Rachel Beck entertained twelve guests at tea yesterday afternoon at her home in a pretty and entertaining manner in compliment to Miss Alice Lyon, of Cartersville, the guest of Mrs. Mona Price.

Opening Ball.

The ball room of Hotel Ansley will be formally opened with a ball on the evening of July 4, at which the ladies of Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., will be the hostesses.

The courtesy of the hotel management has secured the hospitality of the ballroom to the chapter, and the hotel orchestra will furnish music.

A number of the new dances will be featured, and a climax will be the "Virginia" reel.

Tickets will be $1, and they may be had from any of the members.

Miss Moore's Dance.

Miss Esther Moore entertained delightfully last night at the home of her cousin, Mrs. J. Clyde Fuller.

Dancing was the feature of the evening, and dainty refreshments were served. The color combination of gold and white was carried out in attractive detail.

To Miss Thrall.

Mrs. Welborn Hill was hostess at 5 o'clock tea at the Driving club yesterday, the occasion, a pretty one, assembling a small party of young ladies to meet her attractive guest, Miss Jay Thrall, of Williamsport, Pa.

Tea was served on the hall room porch from a buffet table decorated with pink sweet peas and laden with warm weather dainties. Afterward there was dancing, the party mingling with the informal company going out to the club every afternoon to enjoy the music and the attractions of the terrace.

Mrs. Hill wore a dainty white embroidered batiste and lace gown with a white hat trimmed with wings. Miss Thrall wore a charming old-fashioned gown of white silk made with long waist and accordion plaited skirt. Her picture hat was pink.

Miss McCarty Entertains.

Miss Thomson McCarty was hostess at a beautiful dinner last night at her home, the guest of honor, Miss Margaret Buckner, of Roanoke, who is visiting Miss Helen Jones.

The party of ten were seated at a prettily appointed table set on the portico which was cool and inviting with ferns and flowers. The table centerpiece was of yellow illies, and the candelabrae had Dresden shades in yellow. The places were marked by sword ferns.

Miss McCarty wore a salmon pink chiffon with drapery of lace, which fell into a lace train, and the soft girdle was of acid blue satin. Miss Jones wore white charmeuse and chiffon, and Miss Buckner was gowned in old rose brocade.

To Miss Oliver.

Miss Carolyn King's afternoon bridge yesterday, in compliment to Miss Elsie Oliver, was a pretty affair of three tables.

Garden flowers were an effective decoration in the living room and palm room, where the tables were placed, and dainty refreshments were served. The prizes were silk stockings and a boudoir cap.

Miss King wore a dainty lingerie gown in white with draperies of flowered chiffon.

To Miss Domingos.

In compliment to Miss Elizabeth Domingos, of Macon, who is visiting Miss Josephine Davis, Miss Josephine Peabody will give a matinee party today.

Yesterday Miss Alice Wilson entertained at two tables of bridge in her honor.

JULY COTTON NOTICES CIRCULATED FREELY

This, With Scattered Selling, Caused the Market to Decline.

New York, June 27.—The cotton market was unsettled and lower today under near month liquidation, caused by the circulation of July notices and scattered selling of new crop months, based on favorable crop or weather advices. The close was steady at a net decline of 9 to 12 points on the old crop and of 1 to 5 points on new crop months.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 3 points. The July notices were estimated at 15,000 bales and it was anticipated that they would be stopped with reasonable promptness, but their circulation through the street brought out quite a lot of scattering liquidation.

Prices gradually worked lower under this pressure and during the afternoon July contracts sold about 70 points under August contracts. Some of the people who were selling July seemed to be buying August, which helped to bring about the premium on that position and there also appeared to be some buying of the new crop months by people who were liquidating old crop positions.

Predictions for showery or cloudy weather in the belt and for rains in parts that the storm in the gulf might cause beneficial rains in Texas, inspired scattered offerings of cotton but deliveries, however, and those positions sold about 5 to 7 points net lower in sympathy with the old crop break. Closing prices were a shade up from the lowest on covering.

It was rumored that houses with Liverpool connections had stopped a good part of the July notices, but reports from ocean freight circles claim that so far there was little fresh demand for room for July shipment from New York. Week-end figures were considered rather bullish and were a sustaining factor in the late trading.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.30; do. gulf 12.55; sales, 1,200 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 27.—The cotton market was quiet today with prices ruling steady to lower. Bears continued to belt bear and offered freely with no support in sight. Buying was confined to short covering. Buying was based on the belief that dry weather would prevail and bears who hoped that the distribution by bull leaders would bring relief to the drought conditions.

The market opened quiet, 2 points down to 4 points unchanged from the last quotations of yesterday. Offers were better than bids, but much uncertainty was felt. July notices in New York and rumors that they amounted to more than 20,000 bales probably caused July to sell slightly under yesterday's close. The report that 37 cotton cars were storing notices caused a scramble for July notices, which sent prices up fast. Toward the middle of the morning, the forecast of local rains and early weather in the western belt and in the southern portions of Alabama and Mississippi caused some selling and the market rallied a point or two of under yesterday's closing quotations. In the afternoon there was a steady decline and prices were 4 to 6 points over yesterday's close at one time, within a point or two of the highest of the day.

Spot cotton quiet; on basis middling 12.20c; sales on the spot and to arrive, 16; strict ordinary, 9¾, nominal; ordinary, 10 1-16, nominal; strict good ordinary, 11 15-16; low middling, 12 5-16; strict low middling, 12 5-16; middling, 12 5-16; strict middling, 12 15-16; good middling, 13 7-16; middling fair, 13 15-16; strict middling fair, 13¾, nominal; middling fair to strict good fair, 14¼, nominal. receipts, 979; stock, 31,422.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 27.—The primary cotton goods market was extremely quiet and steady. The only feature of interest was the steady demand for small quantities of staple goods for prompt delivery. Jobbers seem to be more interested on all worsted and cotton warp aerges for July-August delivery. Some of the mills report that the goods wanted that a large proportion of this business had to be destined.

WHEAT MAKES JUMP ON KANSAS DRYNESS

Market Closed Nervous and One-Quarter to Three-Quarters Cent Up.

Chicago, June 27.—Official statements that excessive dryness had set back Kansas wheat as much as 26 per cent in the last month put the market today in an upward whirl. There was a nervous close at an advance of ¾ to ⅞@⅞c net. Corn showed a gain of 1⅛ to 1⅛c over last night and oats a rise of 1⅛ to 1⅛c. Provisions finished unchanged to 12½c decline. Trading in wheat, as in other grains, reached a volume considered by some to surpass that of any previous day this season. Bullish figures on the Kansas crop were available before the opening and had a powerful effect from the start. It was estimated the yield in that state would not amount to more than 72,000,000 bushels, whereas speculators had been counting on about 90,000,000 bushels. Heavy selling checked the upturn, but the top prices of the day were current within fifteen minutes of the close. Total clearances of wheat and flour equalled 403,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 481,000 bushels, a year ago 229,000 bushels.

Crop danger from extreme heat in Oklahoma and other states produced sentiment among corn dealers. It was said the entire southwest was alarmed over possible scorching of the fields. Buying orders were so numerous that all reactions proved unimportant.

Intense heat and dry weather were reported as even more adverse to oats than to corn. Special interest was aroused by the Kansas state report making the crop condition there 49 against 78 a year ago.

In the provision crowd the grain bulge was ignored, and prices went lower with hogs.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 27.—Traders were made on July contracts today and about half of our stock has passed into the ownership of Liverpool merchants, who found a ready market for the cotton they shipped from here during May and June. They are believed to hold more July contracts than the sellers of today, though no one really knows what they intend to do. The latest deliveries hardly moved, fluctuating within a range of a few points. Shippers and our mills are being sold ahead and Europe in one shape or another has hedged by buying at the contract markets. There is a large short interest which is thus owned by spinners. The trade looks for a July crop estimate of about 62 or 63.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 27.—Favorable crop reports from both the eastern and western sections of the belt encouraged selling of cotton here today and consequently prices ruled slightly lower. At the same time, manufacturing liquidation of July on the part of holders who do not care to accept the notices, also aided the decline. However, spot interests and Liverpool firms bought July on a scale down and eventually accepted deliveries.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 27.—Notices were issued today for the delivery of about 20,000 bales on July contract. The result was that July broke 13 points and the week-end the other months to a certain extent. There was a very good undertone to the market, however, and new crop months closed only three points.

The market closed steady and it looked very much like a market that would do better. Liverpool is due to come 1½ down.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 27.—Favorable crop reports from both the eastern and western sections of the belt encouraged selling of cotton here today and consequently prices ruled slightly lower. At the same time, manufacturing liquidation of July on the part of holders who do not care to accept the notices, also aided the decline. However, spot interests and Liverpool firms bought July on a scale down and eventually accepted deliveries.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 27.—Notices were issued today for the delivery of about 20,000 bales on July contract. The result was that July broke 13 points and the week-end the other months to a certain extent. There was a very good undertone to the market, however, and new crop months closed only three points.

The market closed steadily and it looked very much like a market that would do better. Liverpool is due to come 1½ down.

THE ADVENTURES OF DOTTO, THE WANT AD SCOUT---Taking Care of the Sick

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Atlanta real estate men are looking forward with interest to the sixth annual convention of the national association of real estate exchanges, which will be held just over the Canadian boundary at Winnipeg, July 28, 29 and 30.

This association has grown from fifteen affiliated boards to the present membership of eighty-three boards in five years. The Winnipeg real estate exchange, which is preparing the entertainment, is celebrating its tenth

CHICKENS need more care and attention the first few days of their lives, broilers than any other time during the year, if they are not properly looked after. Don't have lice and mites, and unless you have them under control they will multiply in such quantities that you can not possibly expect your flock to prove profitable. Don't forget that chicks must have a quick growth they should and the hens will not lay if they are covered with lice and pests. We have remedies that will positively get rid of them and the cost is very small. For 50c you can get a can of either Lee's, Conkey's or Pratt's Lice Killer and we are going to guarantee either of these preparations to give entire satisfaction.

COCHRAN INTERESTED IN FARM CONDITIONS

Introduces Measure Seeking to Improve the Agricultural Status of the State.

Representative R. O. Cochran, of Fulton county, introduced a resolution in the house Friday providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the agricultural conditions of the state with a view to improving them and to appropriate money for the maintenance of the commission; for the appointment of a commission to compile information concerning the general agricultural interest of the state, to prescribe the duties of such commission and to appropriate money for the maintenance of same. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, state-wide publicity has been given to a recent statement that the people of Georgia are buying approximately thirty-seven million dollars' worth of food stuffs annually in excess of the entire proceeds of their farm products, and that this money is going out of Georgia; and,

"Whereas, if this condition is substantially true, it means disaster and eventual ruin for the people of Georgia.

"Be it resolved, by the house, the senate concurring, first, That a commission be created, the duties of which shall consist of investigating the general farming interest of the state, namely, the present methods in practice concerning the raising of cotton, corn, and other agricultural products, also hogs, cows, horses, mules, poultry, the report of said commission of their findings and recommendations as to what is being done and what should be done along these lines to improve the farming interests in the state. It shall further be the duty of the said commission to make an exhaustive investigation of the agricultural institutions of the state, to the end that the general benefits now arising from said institutions, and report their findings and recommendations. Stated comprehensively, the purpose of said commission is to ascertain the status of our farming interests in comparison with other states, and to gather information and make recommendations that will improve the farming interests of Georgia and contribute to the substantial prosperity of the people.

"Second, the commission shall consists of ten members, to be appointed by the governor, three of whom shall be members from the senate, three members from the house, one member from the faculty of some agricultural institution of the state, two farmers and two bankers.

"Third, that said commission he empowered to issue subpoenas, administer oaths, and to compel witnesses to testify in all matters necessary to obtain the information desired.

"Fourth, said commission shall hold sessions at such times and places as the chairman may determine.

"Fifth, the report of the findings and recommendations of said commission shall be submitted in printed form to the 1914 session of the legislature for their consideration.

"Sixth, be it further resolved, That the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars, also as much of said sum as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated for the purposes expressed and set forth in the object of this resolution, to be paid out of moneys not otherwise appropriated."

anniversary, and has assured all members of the Atlanta real estate board that they will attend that its birthday party will be one long to be remembered.

Fitzhugh Knox, Atlanta's well-known real estate developer and builder, is making plans for going, if business will permit. Names of others have been published from time to time in The Constitution.

Small Transactions Friday.

Friday did not witness many real estate transactions. The market was rather dull, and while nothing of great importance was recorded, it is hinted in certain circles that a number of developments among the subdivision dealers will be announced particularly the opening of several more valuable tracts.

Opening of Woodlawn.

Woodlawn, a new subdivision in the exclusive East Lake section, will be put on the market Monday. This is one of the choice subdivisions which has been offered this season, and is owned by E. P. McElroy, and will be handled by the Bottenfield agency.

The tract is located at the junction of the East Lake and South Decatur car lines, between the city and East Lake, fronting on Boulevard De Kalb, a newly-made 80-foot driveway, which is one of the three of that size in Atlanta.

Twenty-four lots, averaging 50x200 feet, compose the subdivision, and all modern conveniences, such as electric light, sewerage, city waterworks, 6-foot sidewalks, etc., have already been installed.

The Bottenfield agency has arranged to sell these lots at private sale on small monthly payments, with no interest. The price will range from $500 to $1,600. Certain restrictions as to race and the quality of homes built will be made.

$30,350 Realty Sale.

Announcement was made Friday of the sale of two pieces of acreage on North Boulevard and Peachtree Springs avenue, for an aggregate price of $30,350 recently.

One plot of 16.9 acres in land lot 58, fronting on North Boulevard, was purchased by Edwin P. Ansley from Mrs. Sallie J. Bearse for a consideration of $25,350.

The other plot fronting on Boulevard and Rock Springs avenue, and containing 5 acres, was purchased by Mr. Ansley from Paul E. and Little L. Stephens for $5,000.

Haverty Contract Let.

The contract for J. J. Haverty's residence on Peachtree Road has been let to the Pittman Construction company, and work will start in a few days. Mr. Haverty's home, which will be north of Jack J. Spalding's "Deerland," will cost approximately $50,000, and when completed will be one of the handsomest homes in Fulton county.

Charles Godfrey Buys.

Charles Godfrey, who was one of the first builders at East Lake, and is now a resident in that section, has recently purchased a lot at Brookhaven, and it is reported will soon build.

Dr. Joseph Jacobs to Build.

It was reported Friday that Dr. Joseph Jacobs would erect a handsome country home on Peachtree Road, between Buckhead and Brookhaven, and give up his present home on the east side of Peachtree, between Sixth and Seventh streets. Dr. Jacobs is out of the city, and could not be reached to get any details of the new residence.

Heirs Seek Charter.

Heirs of the late Sidney H. Phelan have applied to the superior court for a charter for the S. H. Phelan company (inc.) in order to handle the Phelan estate. The heirs are represented by Barry Wright, an attorney of Rome, Ga.

Peachtree Heights Sale.

J. W. Golden, Jr., has purchased from C. T. Swift and Eugene Dickey, the northeast corner of Peachtree Road and Peachtree Way, in the Peachtree Heights subdivision, for approximately $9,200, or about $90 per front foot. The lot has a frontage of 107 feet, and a 350-foot depth.

$6,500 was the price which the sellers paid for the corner.

Phillips Sells Home.

R. J. Phillips has sold through M. Selig to Mrs. Ayres Bowen his residence at 234 Washington street for $10,000.

WINN WILL NOT RUN FOR COUNCIL IN EIGHTH

Through With Politics for Present, Asserts Former Mayor of Atlanta.

Ex-Mayor Courtland S. Winn will not be a candidate for council in the eighth ward.

He made this emphatic Friday morning when he said that he was through with politics, for the time being, at least.

During the last months of his administration Mayor Winn suffered in health and was forced to go to Florida for a rest. Since he has been out of politics he has gained in health, and is enjoying a lucrative law practice.

Councilman Albert Thomson, of the fourth ward, who has been persistently urged to make the race for Alderman James L. Key's place, will probably retire at the end of his present term. Councilman Thomson said recently that his friends in the fourth were urging him to make the race for alderman, but he, too, is anxious to get out of the game and devote a little time and attention to his real estate interests.

The most recent announcement from the eighth ward is from friends of Archibald W. Davis, the well known attorney, who is said to be preparing an aggressive campaign for council. Frank H. Reynolds will likely be the other candidate for Councilman Haverty's place. John S. Owens will run for alderman.

THEATERS

"Quo Vadis" Pictures.

(At the Grand.)

The last two performances of "Quo Vadis" will be rendered at the Grand matinee and night today. This wonderful creation of Italian film-makers has been witnessed by a great percentage of the Atlanta population.

For next week, the Grand management announces another big feature production, the first presentation here of Thomas A. Edison's kinetophone. This is the latest invention of the wizard of the incandescent lamp and a phonograph.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Matinee and night performances will end the stay of vaudeville acts that have entertained so pleasingly at the Forsyth this week.

Principal among the artists of next week will be Edward Abeles and his company in the presentation, "He Tried to Be Nice." Abeles has been identified with the Cohan & Harris productions for several seasons. Billy McDermott, the Tramp Comedian, who is said to be something more than a mild sensation along Broadway with his parodies and stories.

Musical Comedy Tabloid.

(At the Bijou.)

The engagement of "The Merry Whirl" this week at the Bijou has strengthened the popularity of musical comedy tabloid, and large audiences have visited the Bijou this week. Miss Marjorie Lake has made a decided success of this week, and her several songs have delighted Bijou patrons. Miss Lake is the possessor of an unusual baritone voice, and her personality has won Bijou audiences during the week. It is anticipated that the largest crowds of the week will visit the Bijou at the four performances today.

MAYOR SIGNS CONTRACT FOR NEW AUTO ENGINE

A warrant for $9,000 in favor of the American La France Engine company to pay for the auto engine recently purchased in the Tenth ward, will be drawn on the city treasury Saturday.

P. O. Hebert, the agent for the engine company, brought the contract to Mayor Woodward Friday morning, and the mayor promptly affixed his signature to it. City Attorney Mayson later in the day approved the legality of the document.

The contract was the one Mayor Woodward made a fight against some months ago. He contended that the firemen were contracting for the engine at a time when there was no money to the credit of the fire department to pay for the apparatus, and brought in to question the right of the board to give a moral obligation for it. The mayor's fight resulted in having new bids advertised for. The American La France company again beat all competitors and was awarded the contract. Mayor Woodward said that his entire fight was for the purpose of having the board advertise and make a contract in accordance with law.

JUDGE A. M. LAMBETH DIES AT SANITARIUM

Judge A. M. Lambeth, aged 68 years, died at a new sanitarium in Howell Park sanitarium.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Park Lambeth Wilson, formerly of West End.

The funeral will take place at Memphis, and interment will be in the family plot there.

Mrs. Wilson will accompany the body to that city. She has the sympathy of a host of friends in Atlanta and elsewhere over her bereavement.

HESTER'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, June 27.—Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange statement, issued before the close of business today shows a decrease in the movement into sight compared with the seven days ending this date last year in round figures 4,000, an increase over the same days year before last of 1,000 and a decrease under the same time in 1910 of 14,000.

For the twenty-seven days of June the totals show a decrease under last year of 23,000, an increase over the same period year before last of 8,000 and a decrease under the same time in 1910 of 40,000.

For the 300 days of the season that have elapsed the aggregate is behind the 300 days of last year 2,184,000 ahead of the same days year before last 1,642,000 and ahead of the same time in 1910 by 3,235,000.

The amount brought into sight during the past week has been 28,033 bales, against 32,112 for the seven days ending this date last year, 26,577 year before last and 42,468 same time in 1910, and, for the twenty-seven days of June it has been 130,970, against 156,143 last year, 157,027 year before last and 237,000 same time in 1910.

The movement since September 1 shows receipts at all United States ports 9,601,512, against 11,565,359 last year, 8,516,588 year before last and 7,154,651 same time in 1910. Overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to interior towns 1,078,812, probably will probably 1,540,000, against 1,226,186, last year, 919,258 year before last and 743,000 same time in 1910. Interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year 126,823, against 78,696 last year, 95,971 year before last and 98,000 same time in 1910. Southern mills' takings 4,601,000, against 4,383,142 last year, 2,122,965 year before last and 2,083,134 same time in 1910.

These make the total movement for the 300 days of the season from September 1 to date 15,403,020, against 16,027,387 last year, 11,832,422 year before last and 10,118,851 same time in 1910.

Foreign exports for the week have been 39,839, against 24,458 last year, making the total thus far for the season 8,266,996, against 10,217,690 last year, a decrease of 1,921,254.

Northern mills, both in and Canada during the past seven days show a decrease of 18,451, as compared with the corresponding period last year, and their total takings since September 1 show a increase of 268,809. The total takings of American mills, north and south, since that date for the season have been 4,648,077, against 4,594,052 last year, 4,383,142 year before last and 2,083,134 same time in 1910.

Stocks at interior towns and the twenty-nine leading southern interior centers have decreased during the week 36,211 bales, against a decrease during the same period last year of 37,394, and are now 43,042 smaller than at this time in 1912.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from last season, the number of bales brought into sight thus far from the crop of 1912-13 amount to date is 19,738,652, against 17,540,169 for the same period last year.

WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY.

New Orleans, June 27.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices received by the exchange this week, last week, last year and the year before it, shows a decrease for the week of 169,000 bales, against a decrease of 169,000 last year and a decrease of 193,000 year before last.

The total visible is 4,478,011, against 3,847,-096 last week, 3,420,717 last year and 2,308,-031 year before last. Of this total 1,270,011 American cotton is 2,060,011, against 2,198,096 last week, 2,359,717 last year and 1,238,031 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India and Peru, 1,208,000, against 1,407,000 last week, 1,061,000 last year and 1,070,000 year before last.

The total visible supply of cotton, as above, shows a decrease compared with last week of 185,077, a decrease compared with last year of 52,294, and an increase compared with year before last of 1,079,977.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continent, 1,208,000, against 1,407,000 last week, 1,196,000 last year and 1,469,000 year before last, in sight 3,270,011, against 2,440,011 last week and 59,000 year before last, in India 492,000, against 620,000 last year and 581,000 year before last and in the United States 474,000, against 286,000 last year and 209,000 year before last.

SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

New Orleans, June 27.—Secretary Hester given the taking of American cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in round numbers:

This week 178,000, this year, against 137,000 last year, 138,000 year before last.

Total since September 1, this year 8,12,666,000, against 13,877,000 last year, and 11,033,000 the year before.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 2,293,000 bales this year, against 2,682,000 last year, and 2,045,000 the year before; southern spinners, 2,675,000, against 2,422,000 last year, and 2,176,000 the year before; and foreign spinners 7,698,000, against 8,573,000 last year, and 6,814,000 the year before.

x-Adjusted by deduction of 12,000 New York stock corrected.

TRADE REVIEWED BY COMMERCIAL AGENCIES

New York, June 27.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that business holds up remarkably well, notwithstanding that the midsummer season for inventoring is approaching. Crop returns, as a whole, are favorable, especially as regards winter wheat, cotton and corn, consumption of merchandise is heavy, and the volume obtained on current account is larger than seasonably normal, and trade in pig iron has improved, thanks to heavy low prices.

In the surplus grain producing sections, the diminishing fear of last months, underscored by tariff matters, are going ahead with their fall purchases, and trade has been given a fillip by seasonable weather, plus clearance sales, and, moreover, it appears to be easier to get money on commercial paper.

Thus the week's developments spell somewhat more optimism, especially as appertains to affairs in the northwest, southwest and west, in which section current trade is satisfactory or better, while there is a noteworthy disposition to cover future requirements.

Business failures for the week ending June 26 were 200, which compares with 209 in the like week of 1912.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending June 26, aggregated 5,971,971 bushels, against 3,187,351 bushels this week last year.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, June 27.—Cotton seed oil was excited and higher again today on active demand from the trade and covering by shorts. Thus reports of real oil and failure of tenders on July contract to come out. There was also some speculative buying in evidence in new crop positions. Near months closed 12 to 15 points net higher and deferred months, 4 points higher.

Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow, 6.50@6.60; prime winter yellow and summer white, 6.25, bid.

Futures ranged as follows:

	Opening	Closing
July	8.11@8.13	8.22@8.26
August	8.07@8.09	8.15@8.20

Retail Furniture Men Agree on Early Closing On Wednesday Afternoons

Fully 75 per cent of the retail furniture dealers of Atlanta met in the chamber of commerce Friday afternoon and signed an agreement to close their stores at 12 o'clock each Wednesday during the summer months. A committee composed of O. T. Camp, H. A. Brockman, C. E. Cameron and G. N. Morris was appointed by Chairman Charles S. Robinson to see the dealers not present, and urge them to join the movement.

A resolution was adopted by those present inviting retail dealers in other lines to co-operate in this movement, with the view of making the Wednesday afternoon closing general among all retail dealers of the city.

JURY QUICKLY SECURED FOR THE GRIFFIN TRIAL

Athens, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Contrary to expectations a jury was secured from less than six panels today in three hours for the trial of J. W. Griffin, president of the late Athens Trust and Banking company on trial for wrecking the institution.

Several witnesses have testified, and the entire records and books of the bank, of the Crawford Oil mill, the Stephens Gin company and the Union Point Gin and Fertilizer company have been introduced. The trial will last several days.
